The slogan "We Dare to Be Different" illustrates the vibrant enthusiasm which was the basis for the '67-'68 year for the Mighty Mitchell Marauders. The thrilling experience of being the first school in Colorado Springs to initiate the new modular scheduling developed a stronger pride in Mitchell High School, which lasted throughout the entire year. The pride of a determined football team, the humor of the senior class shoeshine, and the originality expressed on American Heritage Day combined to bring Marauder spirit to its highest peak.

Mary Jo,
 you know, you really are one of my favorite people. We've had some fine times in German this year and I'm really looking forward to more. You're really a fun person -
 Don't ever change!

Following traditions previously set by Marauders, Mitchell's Homecoming activities ranged from the annual bonfire, bomb hunt, and talent show to the riotous new excitement of the pie-eating contest, pyramid building, and a brutal game of speed-away. "We Dare to Be Different" was evident not only in Marauder actions but also in the colorful floats created by each of the classes.

To Mary Jo

Madly rushing from class to class is very much a part of each day for an average Marauder. Typing practice in an open lab, a speech in front of a history class, a private consultation with a teacher, and a few minutes to relax in the student union can all be included in the schedule for the day. Mitchell spirit involves more than just a twenty-one module schedule. It lasts through the regular school hours, continues at a non-compulsory assembly, and culminates in the excitement of a Friday night football game.

 Mary C.

Modular scheduling at Mitchell develops a new freedom unknown to most high school students. The success of this system lies partially with the students' use of the resource centers and open labs in academic subjects. Labs in fine and practical arts and physical education give students the opportunity to explore their non-academic interests and to improve themselves physically. "We Dare to Be Different" is shown in the student union and the surrounding campus which supply the atmosphere for the students who want to take a few minutes out of their busy schedules to relax and catch up on the latest news. The seniors who will be leaving Mitchell and the underclassmen who will return will remember in the years to come that they were part of a school which lived up to its motto: "Look to the Future."

Mitchell's second Homecoming was highlighted by a variety of Saturday afternoon activities on November 21, from 12 o'clock noon to 3:30 p.m. For hungry participants and spectators, Cabinet provided hot dogs, potato chips, and soft drinks for the price of thirty-five cents.

Class competition supplied the impetus for the various events, which included a vigorous tug-of-war, a pyramid-building contest, and a barrel race with volunteers who alternately rolled and rode in barrels.

To add to the excitement, there was a girls' speed-away game, which pitted the brawny senior team against the tough and rugged junior-sophomore coalition, and a messy but nutritious pie-eating contest.

Results of the competition were as follows:

Events	Sr.	Jr.	Soph.
Tug-of-War	1st	2nd	3rd
Pyramid Building	2nd	1st	3rd
Speed Away	1st	2nd	2nd
Barrel Race	1st	3rd	2nd

COMBINING A GREAT deal of work and pride, the seniors finished with second place in float competition.

Second Homecoming

Among the many activities planned for Mitchell's second Homecoming was the football game on Friday night, October 20. Halftime ceremonies at the game featured Queen Kathy and her attendants.

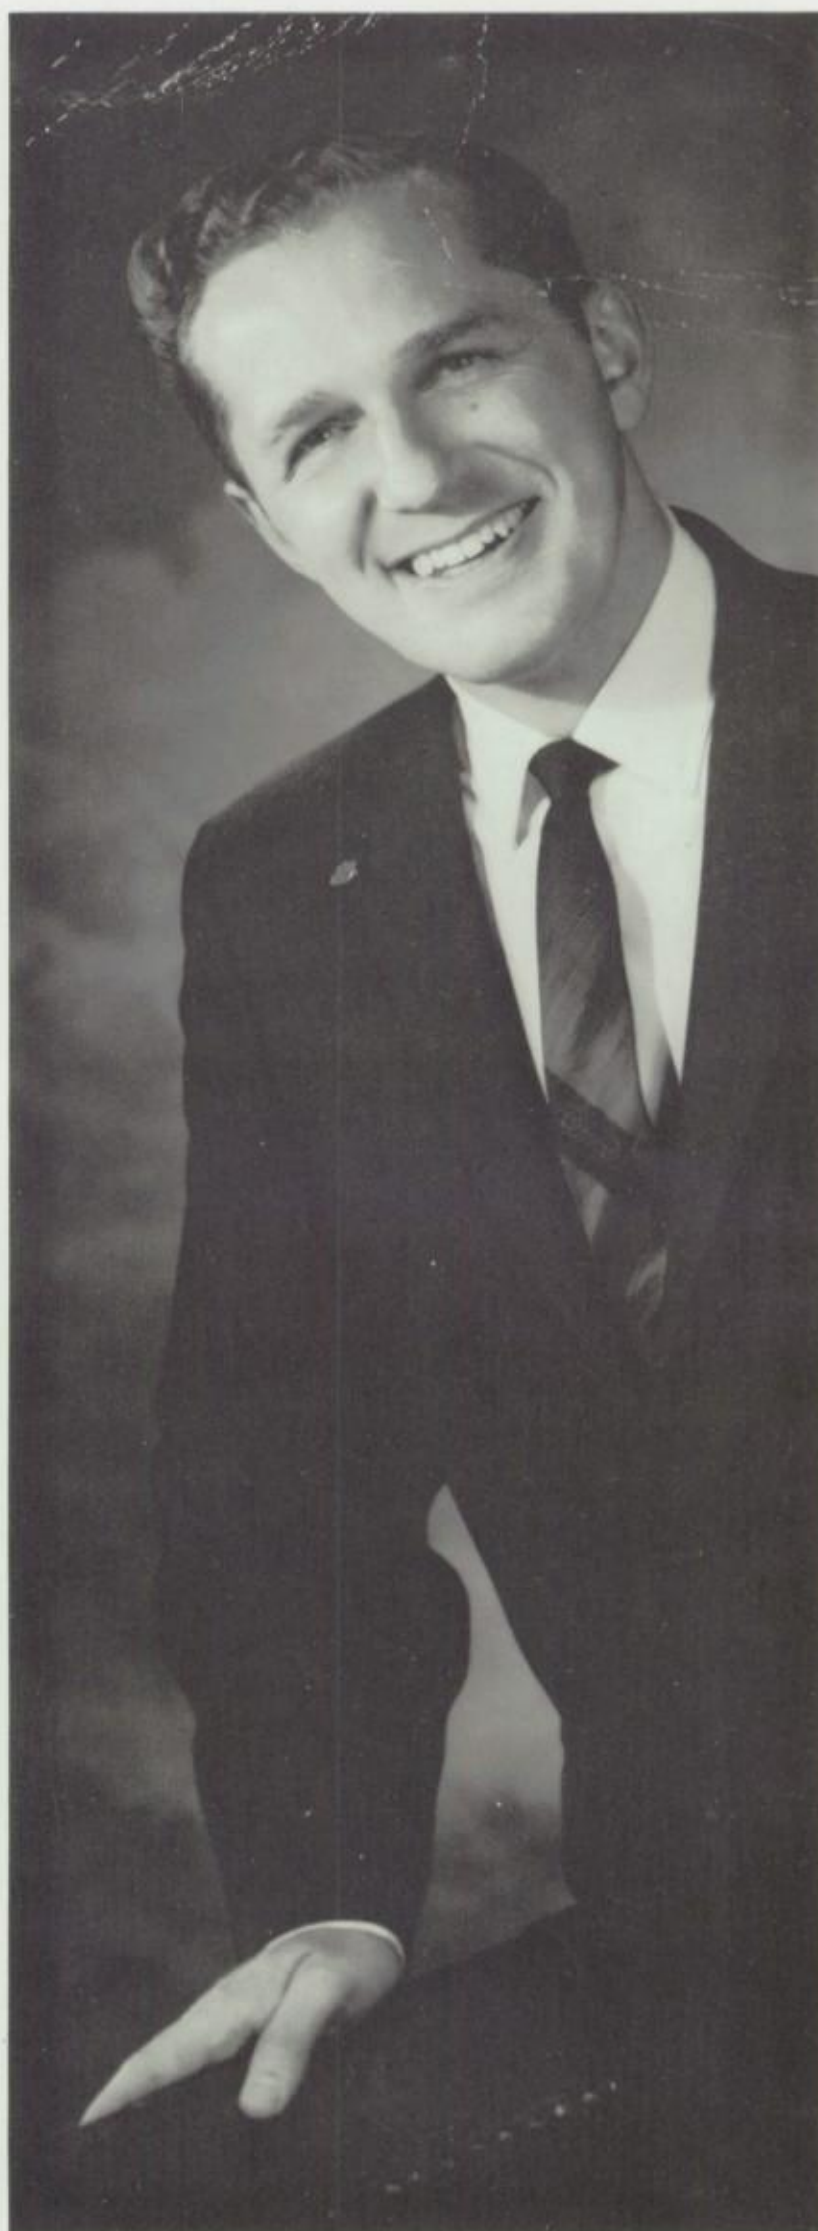

After being given flowers, Kathy Minor presented the 1967 Homecoming Award to Mr. Earl Ruem, the coordinator of the student activities of the Denver Public Schools.

Mitchell's Marching Band inspired the halftime ceremonies by providing music for the Homecoming theme. Their selections included "This is My Country" and "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Members of Pep Club, the pompon squad, and the cheerleaders decorated the entire football field by carrying their colorful display of American and state flags.

Class competition floats were judged during half-time, and the outcome proved to be rewarding for the seniors, who won class competition points. Cabinet's float took first place with seniors coming in second, sophomores third, and juniors fourth.

"Miss America," the queen presentation assembly, marked the beginning of the 1967 Homecoming, "This Is My Country." The five girls nominated for queen were Donna Day, Carlene Hale, Cathy Kenton, Karen Laveirge, and Kathy Minor. Wednesday night, at the talent show, Kathy Minor was crowned Homecoming queen by the student body president, Darrell Jones.

Thursday, October 19, the student body dressed as their favorite characters out of the American past. The characters ranged from Johnny Appleseed to a roaring twenties flapper. American Heritage Day generated enthusiasm for the upcoming events.

Thursday night's bonfire was highlighted by the introduction of the fall sports teams and the speech by the queen, Kathy Minor. Following the bonfire, the traditional chaotic bomb hunt was held.

Saturday night's dance, "From Sea To Shining Sea," climaxed the Homecoming events. Playing for the dance was the famed Beggars Opera Company. During the dance the queen and her attendants received souvenir charms.

Traditionally the first dance of the year, Mitchaballo began the social activities for the 1967-68 school year.

Strobe lights and op art provided a psychedelic atmosphere. Adding to the total effect was the Crimson Street Trolley, known then as the Soul. The group played their nationally recorded song, "Having It All Your Way."

Mitchaballo, an all-school dance, provided Mitchell students with an evening of relaxation and enjoyment and a chance to get acquainted with new students.

"Bum style" was the fashion for the couples who attended the Sadie Hawkins Dance. This traditional girl-ask-boy dance gave a chance for the tables to be turned for both the girls and the boys.

Adding to the liveliness of the dance was the Bedlam Research, a well-known group in Colorado.

During the dance, chaperones chose a couple to reign over the dance. Kathy Seib and Gary Davis were chosen for the originality of their costumes.

"From Riches To Rags" was the theme used by the senior class for their dance. The class used bales of hay and a wooden out-house for decorations.

Eight Pert A-squad Cheerleaders Create New Spirit

ELAINE EARNEST, MARCIA Blakemore, Karen Laveirge, and the rest of the squad instill spirit in ardent basketball fans.

HEAD CHEERLEADER BOBBI Carlson soars "through the air with the greatest of ease" at the victorious Mitchell-Arvada game.

GLANCING AT THE scoreboard, cheerleader Julie Cox anxiously awaits the outcome of Mitchell's first basketball game.

"Go, go, really go; really go, Billy Mitchell!" Heard frequently, this cheer aroused pep and spirit when led by Mitchell's vivacious eight, the A-squad cheerleaders.

With the introduction of modular scheduling, there was a greater need for a sound school morale. To compensate for this need, the squad was increased from the conventional number of five to eight.

Screened by a panel of teachers and student leaders last spring, A-squad was selected from a group of fourteen finalists by a vote of the student body. The girls were chosen on the basis of skill, performance, and enthusiasm.

Besides supporting all sports teams and spurring on the spectators to greater heights in morale, A-squad practiced regularly twice a week throughout the summer and school year, attended clinics, participated in assemblies, and painted posters.

Mrs. Charleen Colvin, the group's sponsor, and seniors Bobbi Carlson (head cheerleader) and Karen Laveirge provided guidance and leadership for juniors Marcia Blakemore, Julie Cox, Elaine Earnest, Cindi Minor, Sue Rowley, and Beth Taylor.

WITH TENSIONS RUNNING high, Beth Taylor displays her undying Ma-rauder spirit at a crisp football encounter.

CINDI MINOR DEMONSTRATES her cheerleading abilities by surging into a back jump, which is new to Mitchell this year.

Mitchell Pompon Girls

24

CARLENE HALE, HEAD pompon girl, led the squad during many of this years' sports activities.

POMPON GIRLS CARLENE Hale, Kathy Minor, Diana Curtis, Linda Alldredge, Donna Day, Jan McFarland, Cathy Kenton, Claudia Giese, and alternate JoAnne Tucker kept marauder spirit high.

Adding their talents to the Homecoming Show, "This Is My Country," the pompon girls sang two patriotic songs, "Cruel War" and rounds of "America."

During basketball season the squad worked up lively routines for the halftime shows. They performed with the band to such songs as "Georgy Girl," "The Stripper," and "Hang On, Sloupy."

Following the requirements set up for pompon clinic, the girls had to attend all clinics and be able to perform two fight songs. They were judged on enthusiasm and appearance by a panel consisting of faculty members and students.

Throughout the school year the pompon squad participated in many of the sports activities and pep assemblies, helping to rouse the spirit of Mitchell High School.

Led by Carlene Hale, the squad included Kathy Minor, Diana Curtis, Linda Alldredge, Donna Day, Jan McFarland, Cathy Kenton, Claudia Giese, and alternate JoAnne Tucker.

Class Competition Promotes School Spirit

Class competition, a recent tradition at Mitchell, encouraged higher class participation. To win first place in class competition, a class had to have the greatest number of people present at a certain number of events.

Points were totaled at the end of the year, and the class with the greatest number of points received the class competition trophy.

Organizing the system, Cabinet decided upon the class competition events and the number of points for each. Class councils encouraged their classes to participate in these events. Competition events included activities, sports, certain school dances, the donkey basketball game, and school plays.

Winter Wonderland served as the theme for the Third Noel, which was the first formal dance of the school year. It provided an impressive climax to weeks of preparation and hard work for the members of the social activities committee.

With a backdrop of imaginative metallic blue and silver decorations, the Crimson Street Trolley created a relaxed atmosphere at the dance, held on December 16.

Highlighting the affair was the crowning of Queen Claudia Giese by her escort Curt Fogle and the presentation of her attendants: Judy Rodas, Linda Wiley, Patty Snow, and Kathy Newman.

During the week preceding the dance, a factory for the mass production of murals and caricatures was set up in the Pikes Peak Room. The class councils planned and made the traditional class-competition hall decorations.

These decorations followed the themes of "Songs of Christmas" by the senior class, "The Night Before Christmas" for the junior class, and the sophomore theme was "Charlie Brown's Christmas."

Judges for the competition complimented the seniors on their colorful murals. However, they awarded the first-place prize to the juniors, as they best conveyed their theme.

Highlighting the evening was the crowning of Bobbi Carlson as the sweetheart queen. During the evening Queen Bobbi and her attendants, Pat Alaniva, Diane Curtis, Jan McFarland, Kathy Gamble, and Gail Pring were presented with souvenir charms.

During January, the queen and her attendants were nominated by the senior boys. They were then presented to the student body in an assembly on February 16, which was based on a television program, "The Dating Game." Elections were held the same day and the results of the selections were first announced at the dance.

Creates Enthusiasm

Energetic marauders returned to school looking toward a new and exciting year with modular scheduling.

Upon the opening of school an eventful year was planned with school dances, football games, and tennis matches. The second Homecoming proved more memorable than the first; the floats showed original beauty; the results of the traditional bomb hunt were humorous and exciting, especially for the winning juniors.

Basketball and wrestling illustrated school spirit; pep assemblies were terrific; donkey basketball brought success to the students this year; slave day added much entertainment for the student body as well as to the slave owners.

Marauder of the month award set new goals for outstanding individuals; class competition created constant excitement at activities, especially in the student union . . . These events and their participants composed Mitchell 1967-68, a year of memories and promising individuals.

Pacesetters Establish Trends in Academics,

Bob Bryant

Throughout Bob Bryant's high school years he has made many contributions to Mitchell. Participating in athletics, Bob has been a member of the football, basketball, and track teams, while earning letters in all three sports.

In addition, he was selected as a member of the All-South-Central-League Basketball team, and received honorable mention for All-State Basketball.

Carrying his leadership qualities to the Marauder band, he served as vice-president, while playing the bass. Outside of school Bob's activities centered around his church, where he served as the superintendent.

Bob also received a medal from the Daughters of the American Revolution for good citizenship. In the future he has planned on a career involving teaching and coaching.

One of Mitchell's lively pompon girls, Donna Day has participated actively in student life by contributing her time to the morale and records committees. As a pompon girl she was also a member of Pep Club.

In addition to Donna's various school activities, she enjoys horseback riding and Young Life. Receiving many awards in her senior year, she was selected as one of the four Homecoming attendants and as a member of the Prom Court.

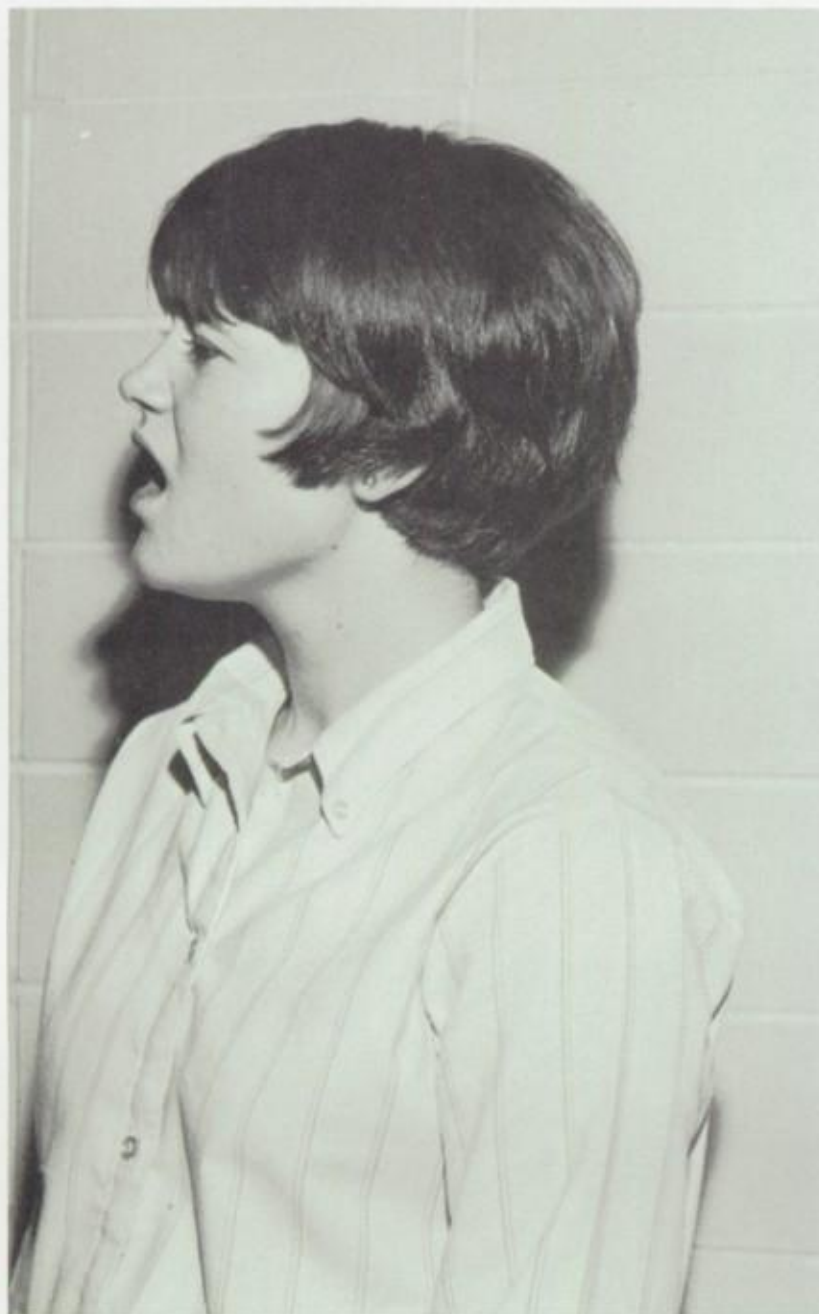

During the last quarter of the year, she was one of six students to go on the exchange program to Las Vegas. Donna was also a queen candidate for the Mardi Gras.

Her future plans include college with a focus on secondary education.

Donna Day

Athletics, and Extracurricular Activities

Linda Wiley

Linda Wiley has devoted much of her time to school organizations by serving on Senior Council. She was elected to Senior Council at the end of her junior year and was elected as vice-president of the Senior Class during the second semester of her senior year. Because of her outstanding work on Council, Linda received the award of Marauder of the Month for October 1967. Her other activities included records committee and morale committee.

Linda's vivacious personality was shown at most of the sports events. Her enthusiastic support of the sports teams set an example for the student body to follow. During the year Linda was honored by being nominated as a Christmas queen attendant.

Linda's out-of-school interests vary from horseback riding to swimming and diving. Her future plans are to attend college and major in physical education.

An outstanding leader in the school, Kathy Minor has helped to raise the morale of the student body. Kathy actively participated in the Pep Club by serving on the pompon squad. She was a member of records committee and morale committee and was the editor of the features section of the yearbook.

Because she was honored by being elected as Mitchell's 1967 Homecoming queen, Kathy contributed greatly to the Homecoming activities. She was nominated as one of the six girls on the prom court and received the 1968 D.A.R. award for good citizenship.

Outside the school Kathy served as president of her church group and was a member of Young Life. She enjoys many activities which include water skiing, ice skating and swimming. Kathy's future plans are to attend an airline school in Denver in order to become an airline stewardess.

Kathy Minor

Carlene Hale

An outstanding leader, Carlene Hale has contributed to Marauder spirit by excelling in numerous areas. As a majorette in her sophomore year, she displayed the talent that won her as many as twenty trophies and fifteen cups for twirling.

In her junior and senior years, Carlene contributed much of her time to the pompon squad, while serving as its head during her senior year. Because of her vivacious personality, she was chosen as a Homecoming Queen Attendant and also as a member of Prom Court.

In addition to her other school activities, Carlene was a member of the morale and safety committees, Pep Club, and the Mitchell Concert Choir. Her work as business manager of the Echelon earned Carlene a position in the honorary journalistic society, Quill and Scroll.

Outside of school, she enjoys ice skating and tennis, while participating in many activities at her church. Carlene plans to attend Colorado State University, where she would like to major in physical education.

Serving on Cabinet as Chairman of Council and leading Council through the school year, Steve Taylor has done much to improve the student government at Mitchell. During the summer and fall Steve attended several leadership conferences and brought back new ideas, many of which were tried by Cabinet and Council. Because of his high grade average, Steve was accepted into the National Honor Society during his junior year.

In his three years at Mitchell, Steve has been active in athletics. He was a member of the gymnastic team during his sophomore, junior and senior years. In his junior year he was named high-point man on the team. He enjoys basketball and was a member of an intramural basketball team.

Steve was a member of M-Club and was elected to the prom court. His future plans include attending the University of Colorado and studying in the field of engineering.

Steve Taylor

Judy Rodas

Throughout high school Judy Rodas has devoted much of her time to school organizations.

She has represented her fellow students on council for the last two years and was elected secretary of council her senior year.

Besides working on council, Judy was active on various committees such as publicity and assemblies. In both her junior and senior years she participated in girls' gymnastics and received a number of awards for her gymnastic abilities.

This year Judy was selected to participate in the local exchange program with Air Academy High School and was also chosen to be one of the Christmas queen attendants.

Judy enjoyed a wide variety of sports activities and displayed her avid support at all of Mitchell's functions.

As for the future, she plans to attend C.S.U. where she will major in physical education.

Serving as President of the student body, Darrell Jones provided outstanding leadership for Mitchell High School.

As President, he presided over Cabinet meetings and was the general chairman of all S.O. activities.

Darrell served on student council second semester in his junior year, and was elected vice-president for that term.

In his senior year he participated actively on the inter-school relations committee and proved to be an outstanding choice to represent Mitchell in the exchange program to Las Vegas.

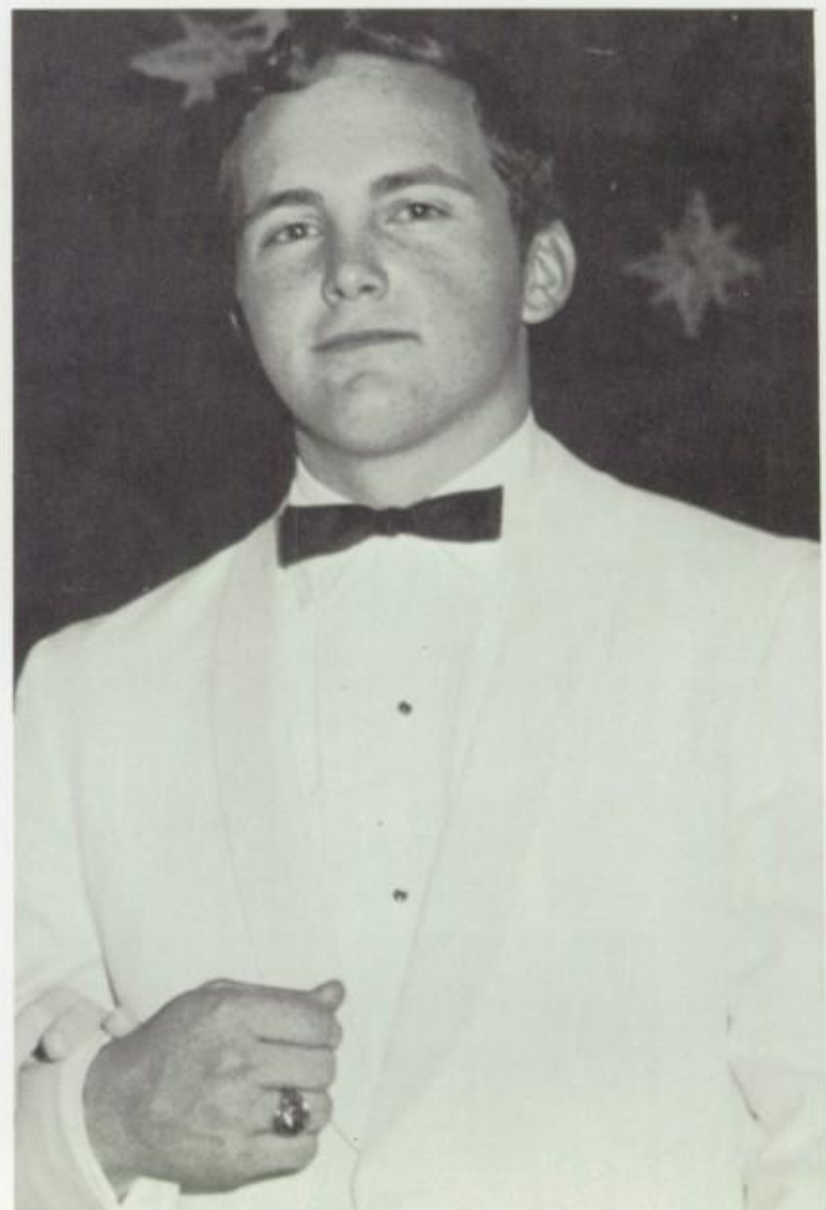

As a result of his character and high academic record, Darrell was chosen to be in the National Honor Society, and received the nomination for the National Council of Teachers of English Award.

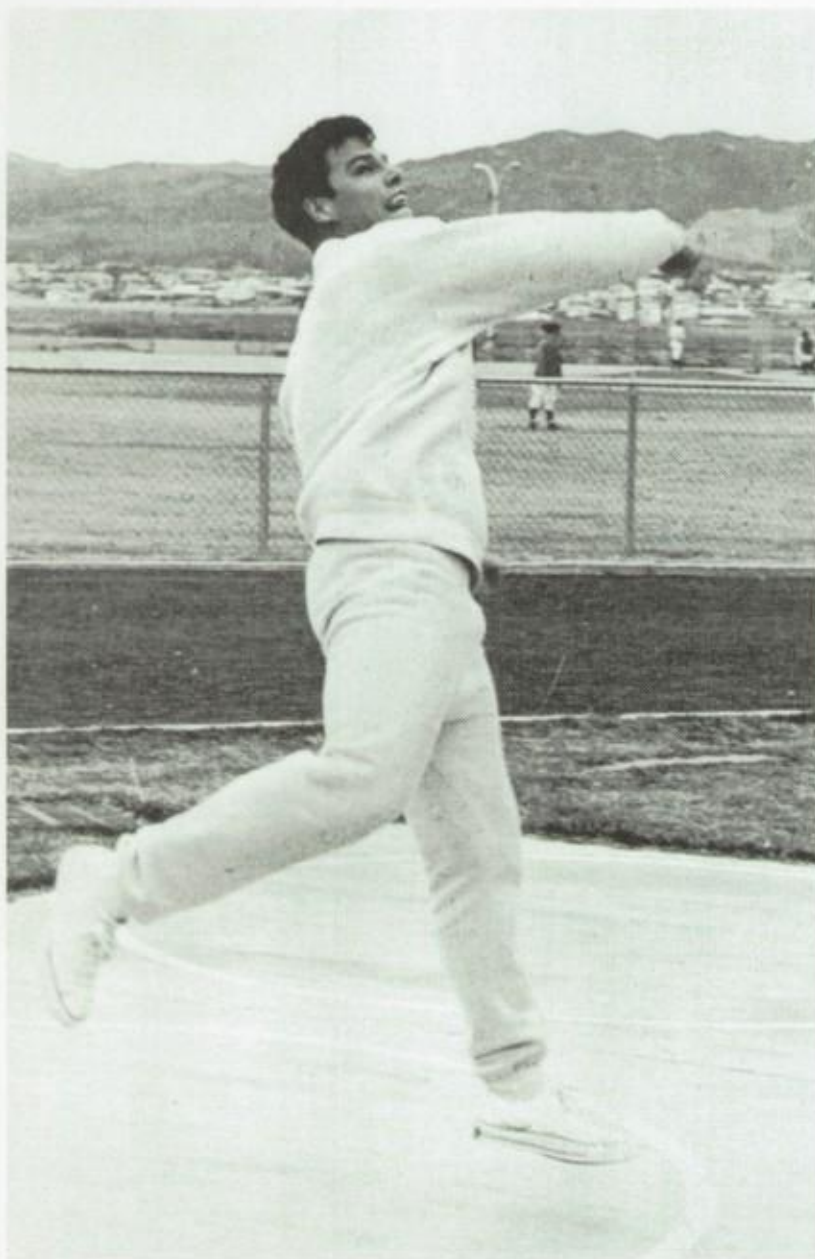

Along with his many other contributions Darrell worked on the Apogee staff, and received membership in the Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism society.

As well as participating in all of his scholastic activities, Darrell found time for physical activity as a member of the gymnastics team both his junior and senior year.

His out of school interests include Young Life, Skiing, and writing. Darrell's future plans are to attend the University of Colorado with interests in engineering or chemical research.

Darrell Jones

Brian Frenzel

Continually active as a member of Cabinet, Brian Frenzel served as secretary of safety. While serving on Cabinet, Brian displayed leadership in all phases of school life.

He was a member of Math Club and morale committee, and was honored with a position in the All-State Student Council. His excellent scholastic records gained him membership in the National Honor Society both in his junior and senior years.

Throughout high school Brian was active in sports. He played three years of football and was a member of the track team, earning a number of letters and a position in M-Club.

Because of his contributions in both athletic and scholastic events, Brian was awarded the Outstanding Teenager of America Award. He was also selected to be in Mitchell's 1968 Prom Court.

Brian's out-of-school interests include Young Life and weightlifting. After graduation he plans to attend Stanford University and major in physics.

As Secretary of Records, Patty Snow has found time to participate in many activities, such as Pep Club, Publicity committee, morale committee, and treasury committee. Her hobbies include skiing, skating, dancing, and sewing.

Patty's senior year was quite busy with her position on Cabinet and an exchange trip to Rancho High School in Las Vegas. In addition, she was a Christmas queen attendant, a Mardi Gras queen candidate, and a member of Prom Court.

In the future Patty plans on attending Colorado State University at Fort Collins, where she would like to major in elementary education.

Las Vegas Students Visit Mitchell

Exchange students presented an assembly on March 7.

During March, six students from Mitchell were sent to Rancho High School in Las Vegas, Nevada, for an exchange program. These students were Linda Alldredge, Julie Cox, Bob Croft, Donna Day, Darrell Jones and Patty Snow. The exchange program lasted from March 2 to March 10.

While the students from Rancho were at Mitchell, they participated in many activities. On March 4, they went to a hockey game and watched Mitchell capture third place in the hockey league. They attended the cabinet clinic on March 5 to observe the structure of the student government, and they also attended the "Leap" dance on March 9.

On Thursday, March 7, the exchange students gave an assembly for the student body. This assembly consisted of singing, skits and speeches, which gave the Marauders a picture of school life at Rancho.

Mr. Joseph Watson

Mr. Joseph Watson, principal, was instrumental in obtaining modular scheduling for Mitchell. He began to generate interest in the program after he heard a speech describing the modular idea. He brought the program to the attention of the school board and received permission to put the program to use at Mitchell.

Mr. George Dalglish, assistant principal, coordinated the conversion efforts from a regular six-period day to the twenty-one module day.

Mr. Thomas Howerton, administrative assistant, acted as dean of boys. Among his duties were automobile registration and disciplinary problems of boys.

Mr. Arvel Ricketts was appointed to the new post of administrative intern. His job was to evaluate modular scheduling, to assist in instructional techniques for large and small group classes, and to correspond with educators interested in Mitchell's program.

Mrs. Marjorie Girard, dean of girls, was responsible for locker registration, the infirmary, and the disciplinary problems of girls.

Mr. Charles Gaul, Mitchell's business manager, was also in charge of student activities, the Student Organization, and Inter-Club Council.

In addition to the visiting college representatives, this year the counseling center began a new program. From November 15 until the end of the year representatives from vocational and trade schools came to Mitchell to give any interested students an idea of their school's curriculum and job opportunities.

Mitchell High School also held College Night October 11. Colleges and universities from Colorado, Kansas, and Nebraska were represented.

Mr. Van Fletcher, a new counselor added to the Mitchell staff, replaced Mr. Arvel Ricketts, who became the new administrative intern in charge of evaluating modular scheduling. The counseling staff helped students with academic and personal problems and aided seniors with college selection.

Mr. Thomas Shoaf, I.B.M. Coordinator, assisted the counseling staff with planning student programs.

New School Bond Issue Passes

MEMBERS OF THE administrative staff are, seated: Mr. Thomas B. Doherty, superintendent of schools; Mr. Robert L. Davis, assistant superintendent of personnel services; and Mr. Charles M. Day, administrative assistant to the superintendent. STANDING: Dr. Arthur R. Olson, deputy superintendent; Mr. Alfred C. Ericson, assistant superintendent of business services; and Mr. Harold H. Threlkeld, director of secondary education.

New additions and improvements to Mitchell, which will be possible because of the passing of the school bond issue in December of 1967, will begin in the summer of 1968. The major addition will be a new building to be erected north of the cafeteria. This addition will include two large lecture halls, one seating one hundred twenty and the other seating one hundred eighty. The new building will also contain nine small group discussion rooms.

Mitchell will also receive funds to remodel the interior of the present main building. More small group areas and larger resource centers are planned.

Voters of Colorado Springs passed the $14,750,000 bond issue, and it was to become effective as soon as possible. Mark Twain, Will Rogers, Monroe, East Junior, and Horace Mann, as well as Mitchell, were to receive money for additions to be built in the near future.

Funds will also provide for a new west-side senior high school, a new junior high, and four new elementary schools, new site purchases, and for other minor improvement in older buildings.

Secretaries Perform Many Functions

Again this year, the business office performed many functions. Business manager Mr. Charles Gaul, with the help of Mrs. Thelma Mason, educational secretary, kept an accurate record of all of the school's financial affairs. Among the varied duties were the sale and distribution of the yearbook and activity tickets, the collection of student obligations, and making arrangements for both team and student buses for games in other cities.

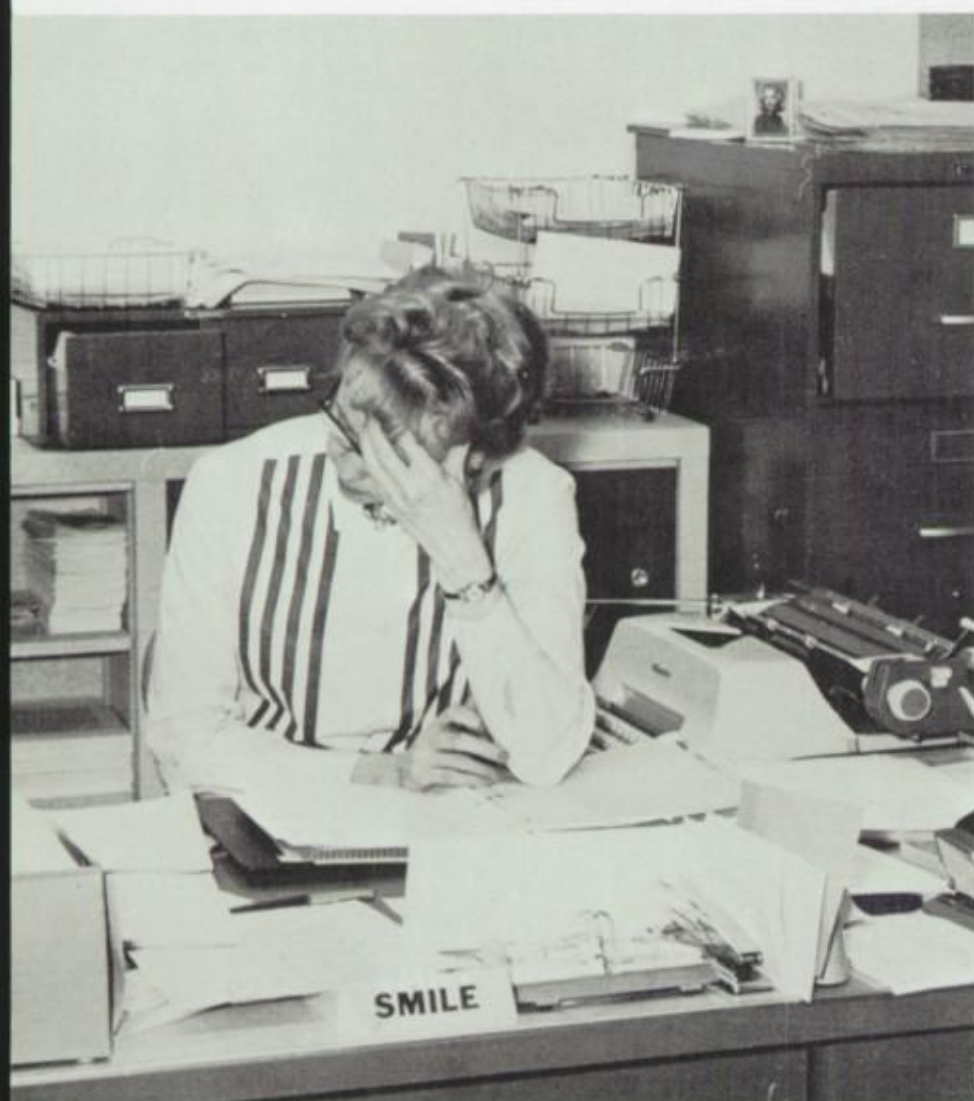

Ten secretaries were employed by the school during the year. Mrs. Mary Hawk served as registrar. Both Mrs. Ruby Shouse and Mrs. Jean Sayre helped in the main resource center; Mrs. Mary Whipple and Mrs. Mary Minick took care of attendance. In the counseling center Mrs. Eloise Peckham and Mrs. Catherine Ballard aided students, while Mrs. Myrna Beck and Mrs. Minnie Bell Wehner acted as receptionists in the main office.

Among the secretaries' duties were such things as making arrangements for the tours that the many visitors took throughout the year, making attendance reports, and helping students sign up for college tests.

MRS. MARY HAWK, registrar, finds that attempting to count the number of students is quite a problem.

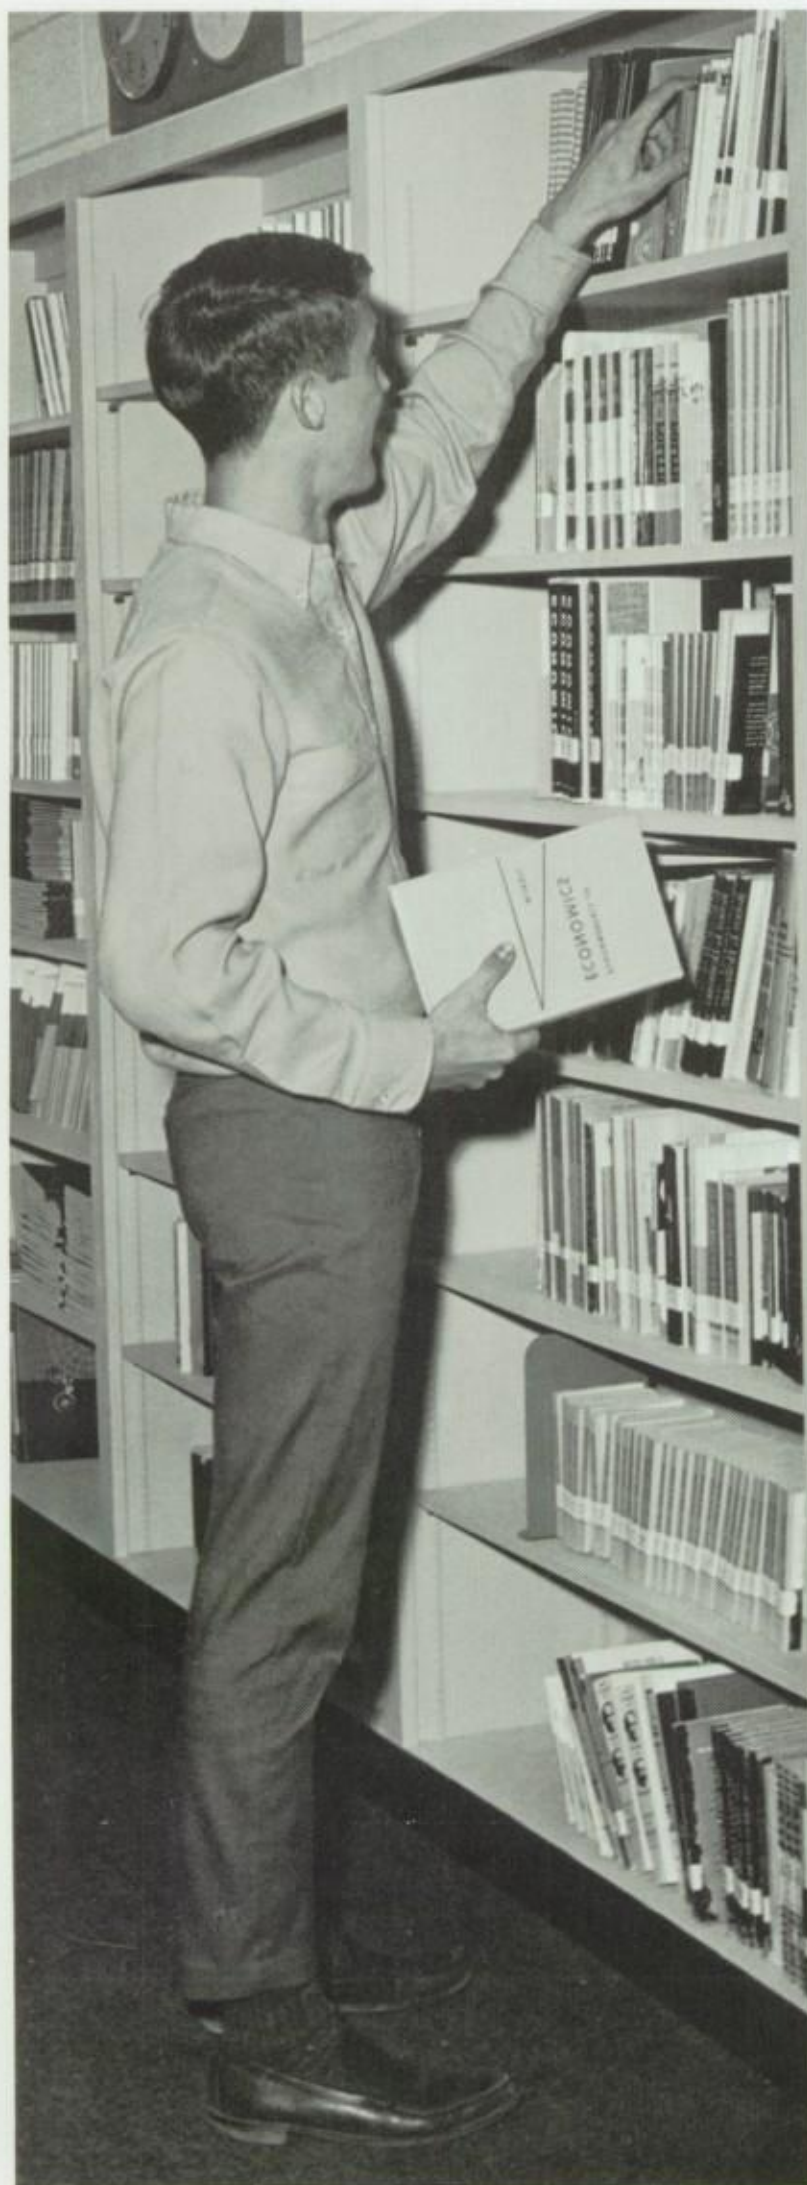

MRS. THELMA MASON, secretary in the business office, goes about her everyday duties.

ONE OF THE many office workers who helped students throughout the year is Mrs. Myrna Beck.

STUDY CARRELS, BUILT in the Mitchell shop, were a unique feature of the resource centers and created an atmosphere of quiet study.

Well-Equipped Resource

Individual study in resource centers is basic to the concept of modular scheduling. During the summer, alterations were made on the building, and additional equipment and resources were obtained in preparation for the flexible system.

The four resource centers were specialized according to departments. They are the math-science, English-foreign languages, social science, and business resource centers. Each center contains books and materials which pertain to its particular department, and the centers were open during all modules for student work in each area. The library served as the generalized resource center.

Independent study was stressed in each resource center. Separate study carrels, built in the Mitchell shop, contributed to the atmosphere of quiet study. Teachers' offices were located in or near the resource centers, so that students could consult their teachers on individual problems during free modules.

Paraprofessionals were added to the staff this year to supervise the centers and to aid the students. They were selected on the basis of their secretarial skills, education, and experience in their particular fields.

Social Science Adopts Multi-Text Approach

MR. ROBERT STACK leads his small-group American history class in a discussion of the Industrial Revolution.

JUNIOR JIM WIANT makes a point as he gives one of his three American history speeches.

Modular scheduling brought about an individualization of instruction in the social science department. The object of the social science classes was to eliminate textbook teaching by providing the student with a variety of sources on one subject. The plan gave the student an opportunity to explore a subject in greater depth and to develop insights and ideas which they could bring to their small-group class discussions.

Ninety-five students could be seated in the social science resource center, which contained both tables and carrels for more individual study.

Among the subjects taught by the social science department were world and American history, which were required of all students, psychology, economics, history of the Far East, world and political geography, American government, and social living.

JOHN TEASLEY MAKES use of the new microfilm reader made available for student use in the library.

MR. RAYMOND CALHOUN, Mitchell librarian, looks through the card catalogue in the library for books.

Library Offers Microfilm Reader

New to the library this year was the microfilm reader, which projects pages from magazines onto a screen. Twenty-five magazines were available on microfilmed pages.

During the school year, the Mitchell library offered students a place to do their homework as well as research and recreational reading. It offered students a place to find information for their many themes, speeches and papers.

Mrs. Mary Johnson and Mr. Raymond Calhoun, librarians, were assisted by paraprofessional Mrs. Joan Hadden. They were aided by Mrs. Ruby Shouse, educational secretary, and Mrs. Jean Sayre, textbook secretary.

Mrs. Joyce Woolston acted as instructional materials specialist by preparing the transparencies used by the faculty in their lectures, making 35 mm. slides, and painting posters and signs that were used in the resource centers.

Mr. John Orr was in charge of the audio-visual department, which distributed the films, slides, and projectors used by the faculty.

DAN EDWARDS LISTENS with interest to a tape of popular music in the audio-visual room, which was opened for student use.

REV. KENNETH BURTON, Colorado College professor, and a CC student read a scene from "The Rhinoceros" for a satire class.

Modular scheduling enabled the English department to completely revise its program structure. A variety of electives were offered to juniors and seniors for the first time, and the chronological approach to literature was replaced by the study of literary types. In addition to the study of literature, composition labs met once a week for four modules, and sophomore speech classes were held once a week in medium groups.

For interested students, additional courses were offered in mass media, creative writing, language study, and journalism. Enrollment in the reading improvement course greatly increased this year because of the versatile scheduling.

Large group meetings proved convenient for presentations to enrich daily study. Many local speakers, such as Mrs. Inez Hunt, local author, and Mr. Jack Finlayson, sports commentator, contributed their knowledge of specific fields to the classes.

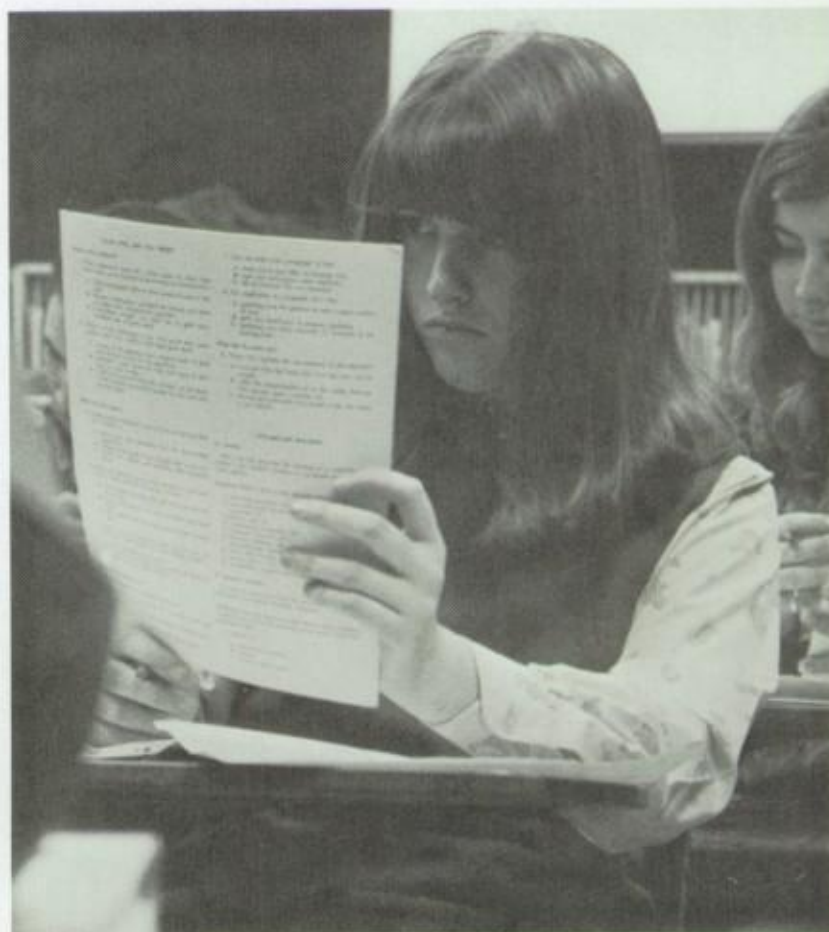

Continuing its policy, the Arts and Humanities Educational Program made it possible for students to see the National Shakespeare Company perform two comedies this year. Volpone and Twelfth Night were both presented during the week of February 12.

English Department Makes Unique Adjustments

DAVE SHONTS LISTENS to an interpretation of a play in the Mitchell audio-visual department to supplement his English studies.

IN A READING improvement class, Gail Hagen participates in a Power Builder exercise to accelerate her reading rate.

Language Department Hosts Exchange Students

MR. FRANCIS RIDDLEMOSER leads a discussion in his German 8 class, a group consisting of only five students in advanced study.

DURING AN UNSTRUCTURED module, Pat McMillen studies Spanish as others around her pursue their respective language courses.

Two students from Mexico City High School spent three days in Colorado Springs this year and stayed in the homes of John Watt and Robb Storm. The boys were winners of the "Alliance for Progress" essay contest and were touring the United States.

In the language program a basic revision this year was the change to an open language lab system. Students were required to spend a certain number of their unstructured modules per week in the lab. This number was determined by their advancement in language study and individual progress.

Under this system students who felt the need for extra study in a language could regulate their lab time accordingly. All languages were studied simultaneously in the lab, and the tapes were controlled by a para-professional at the central unit.

Small-group meetings proved very beneficial to the language department. Teachers were able to give closer attention to individual problems in pronunciation and inflection than in previous years. Small groups of students interested in advanced work, such as German 9, were also organized this year. Previously, this advanced study was not as readily available.

Math Department Offers Computer Class

DURING ONE OF her structured mods, Pam Fisk busily works on some Algebra II problems.

Again this year the mathematics department sponsored a non-credit, volunteer class for students interested in computers. Under the guidance of Mr. James McDermott and Mr. Robert King, interested students ran programs through a computer and used the computer to work on individual mathematics projects.

Each mathematics student spent an average of ten modules a week in actual class time, usually four modules of large group lecture, with the remainder spent in small group classes.

Because great use was made of the math-science resource center, students received more individual help. Complete answer keys, film strips and a variety of other enrichment materials were made available for student use.

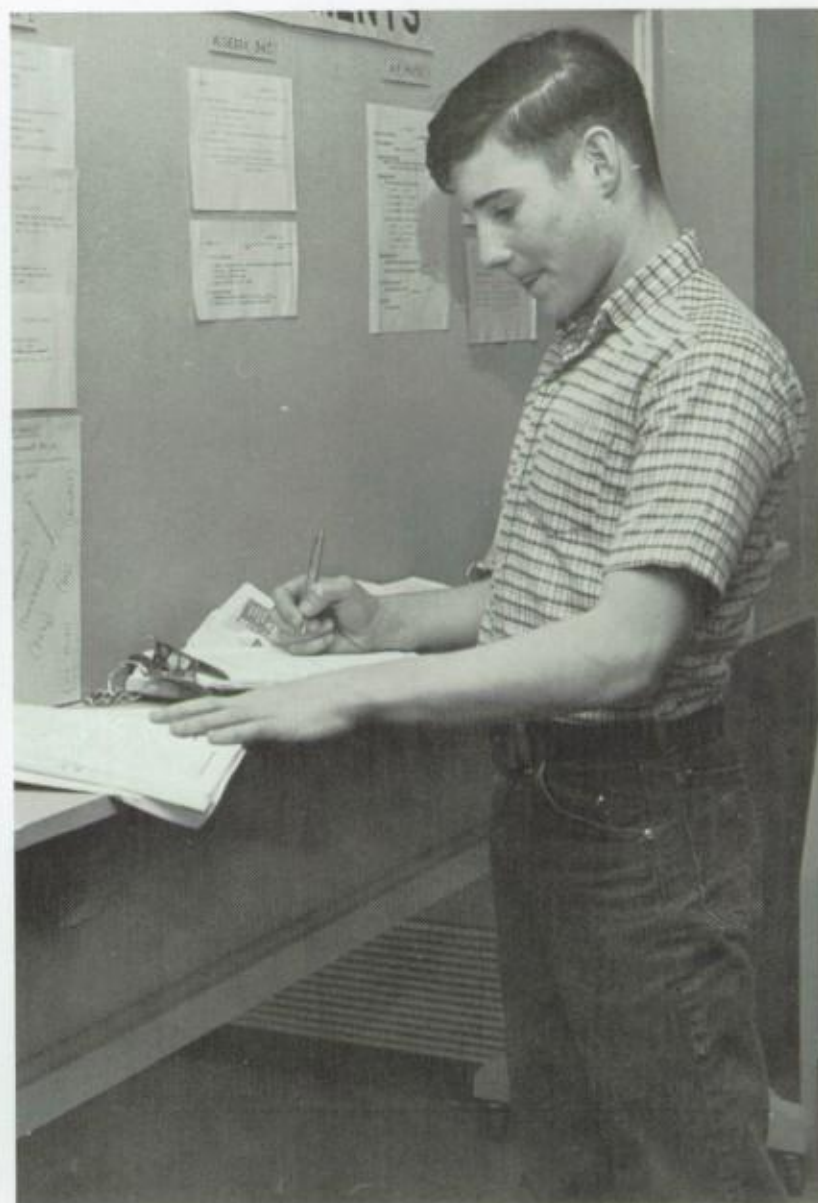

Students at Mitchell were able to take a variety of mathematics courses, ranging from general mathematics to calculus.

SOPHOMORE DANNY HANSON takes advantage of the complete answer keys available in the resource center.

This year the number of lectures given by Mr. John Akey, planetarium director, was doubled. These included in-service classes for District 11 teachers, a special program at Christmas, and lectures for students from all District 11 schools.

For junior English students a special program on mythology was presented. In this program, Mr. Akey point-out those constellations which have mythological names.

Students studying the more advanced sciences were able to take advantage of the new open lab situation. This, along with long structured lab periods, enabled many students to do more advanced research work.

Guest lecturers and team teaching highlighted many of the science courses throughout the year.

Clothing Students Receive Individual Help

NANCY CAMPBELL AND Dolly Bosworth begin making Christmas decorations in January for their home economics class.

With the new modular scheduling, clothing students found that they were not as heavily scheduled as under a traditional type of schedule. Many girls found that they accomplished more by being able to work at their own speed. The faculty members found that they could meet the needs of more students by being able to give more individual help.

Members of the home economics classes were able to combine classroom work with other activities, such as making accessories for the home. These accessories included making grapes, candles and holders, refinishing furniture, and making drapes and slip covers. Free time, as well as class time, was spent on these projects.

Because of modular scheduling, the number of students taking foods classes doubled. Each student spent a total of seven mods per week in class work. Three of these mods were used for the study of theory, while the remaining four mods were spent doing lab work.

Members of the boys' class, taught by Mrs. Betty Meyering, prepared breakfasts and desserts, learned correct table setting procedures, and took a field trip to Safeway.

Also during the year, two local chefs came to Mitchell to demonstrate the preparation of several dishes to members of the boys' foods class.

Business Department Increases Enrollment

Because of the adaptability of many of Mitchell's business courses to the open lab concept of modular scheduling, enrollment in business courses greatly increased. Many students found that because classes such as typing and shorthand depended mostly on unstructured work time, they could fit these courses into their schedules.

Also because of the time spent in individual work in the labs, students found that they were able to handle more responsibility and that they were better prepared for work after graduation.

Members of the distributive education classes were put in charge of the large showcase on the west side of the second floor. This display work allowed students to apply many of the techniques learned in class.

In January of 1968, distributive education student Erik Carroll was elected to the position of president of the southern district of the Distributive Education Club of America.

DURING HIS METALS class, Jack Addison checks the diameter of a drive shaft of a snowmobile.

Because of the growing need for electrically skilled workers in the region, electronics was offered for the first time by the industrial arts department. This elective was open to all students who were interested in electronics. The course covered basic electrical theories and laws, electronstatistics, electrical measuring instruments, and AC and DC theory.

Also offered to Mitchell students for the first time was vocational electronics. This course was taken by students who planned to go into the electronics field after graduation. Areas covered during the year were industrial electronics, communications, and radio and television repair.

Among the other subjects offered by the industrial arts department were general industrial arts for all incoming sophomores, and wood shop, metal shop, graphic arts, and auto shop which were all two-year courses. Electronics and mechanical drawing were both three-year courses.

Fine Arts Stress Student Talents

This year the fine arts department stressed development of individual talents.

Under the direction of Mr. Norman Smith instrumental music students participated in pep band and concert or stage band. Pep band had the special honor of participating in Band Day at Boulder on October 7. Concert band entered the State Music Concert held in April. Stage band played for the Colorado School Boards Convention held at the Broadmoor in November.

In vocal music under the direction of Mr. Archer Hayes, students belonged to one or more of six vocal groups, which performed in the Christmas Concert and Spring Concert.

In the drama department under the direction of Mr. J. D. Barnes first semester and of Mr. James Hill second semester, students studied effective acting and staging techniques and the history of drama and aided Talisman Theatre with the production of plays.

In art classes Mr. Jack Frost taught beginning art students the basic principles of art. The advanced students worked with such apparatus as the poetry wheel and the new bronze-casting system put in operation this year.

Gym-Swim Area Open for Students

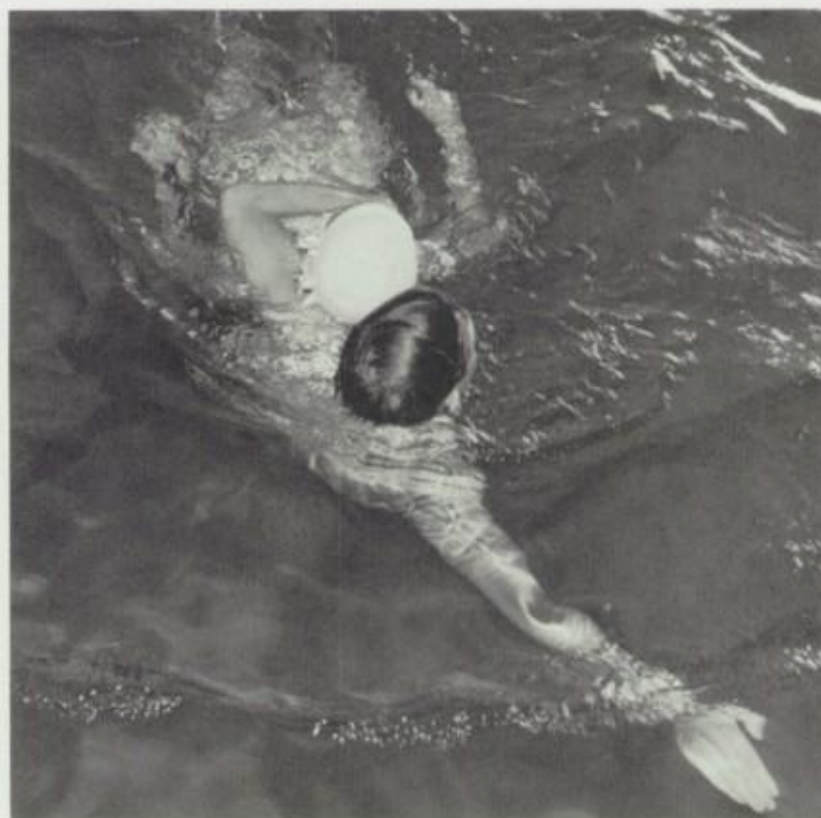

This year with the advent of modular scheduling, the physical education department has opened the gym and pool areas for students and teachers in their unscheduled time.

Sophomore boys and girls participated in swim and health education for one semester. Beginning swimmers took swim first semester and advanced swimmers took the course second semester.

In advanced swim juniors and seniors continued practice of more intricate strokes and learned life-saving techniques for their advanced swimmer's and senior Red Cross card.

Seniors in the water safety class became qualified to teach classes and reviewed life-saving techniques.

BUD NUGENT AND Cathy Hendrickson practice life-saving techniques during their advanced swim class.

Administration Opens

WHILE ENJOYING THE student union, Ron Stull talks with Mr. Harold Sobol.

RELAXING IN THE student union between classes, Lynn Murray talks to fellow students Ken Hoover and Brian Tucker.

With the advent of modular scheduling the school's administration has opened the cafeteria area as a student union. Students were granted the privilege only if they accepted the responsibilities of keeping it clean. The student union was open during the first fourteen modules of the day so that the students could buy food, and it was also open to any student who wished to study there.

Mr. Harold Sabol, student union supervisor, was responsible for directing student activity and keeping the union orderly.

Mr. Howard Newberry, head custodian, with the help of fifteen other custodians was responsible for the upkeep of the school. Among their responsibilities were regulating the amount of bromine in the pool, checking temperature uniformity in all the rooms and maintaining the equipment used by the school.

Under the direction of Mrs. Myrtle Johnson were fourteen cafeteria workers and a number of student workers. They prepared the food for lunch and served food for the student union.

2-7-1 Win-Loss Record

This year Bob Croft was selected as linebacker on the all S.C.L. team and Mike Matthews as offensive tackle on the second team. The Gazette Telegraph-KRDO Radio all-city team appointed Ron Haines and Cullen Bryant as members of the squad.

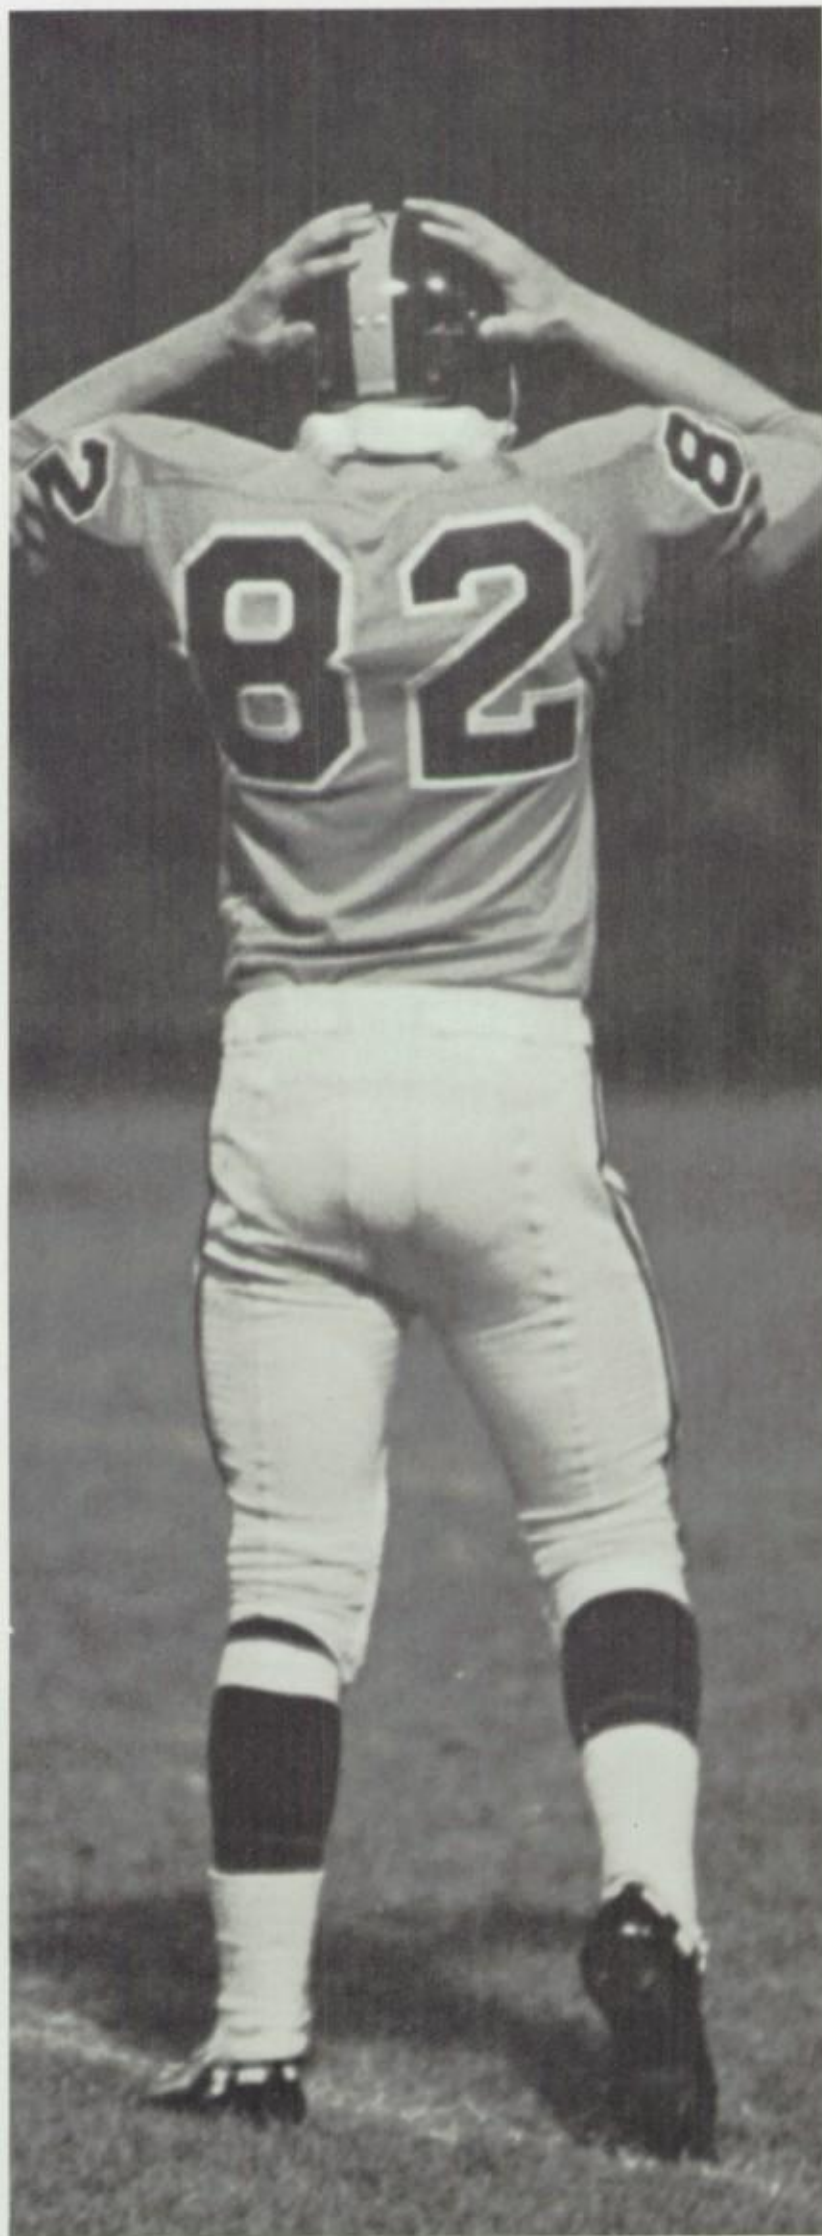

In their three non-league games, the Marauders fell to Cherry Creek, defeated Widefield, and narrowly lost to Fort Collins.

Starting their league season by losing to the Trinidad Miners, the Marauder football team returned to tie Pueblo Central. Pueblo Central was tied for first place in the South Central League. Then the gridders fell to Pueblo South by one heartbreaking point. The results of Mitchell's homecoming game against Centennial proved to be disappointing for the Marauders and Mitchell fans.

After beating Palmer, the gridders buckled under to Pueblo East. With high hopes of ending the season with a win by defeating Wasson, the Marauders led the Thunderbirds during the first half. Then Wasson returned to defeat Mitchell by one touchdown. The final record for Mitchell's overall season was 2 wins, 7 losses, and 1 tie.

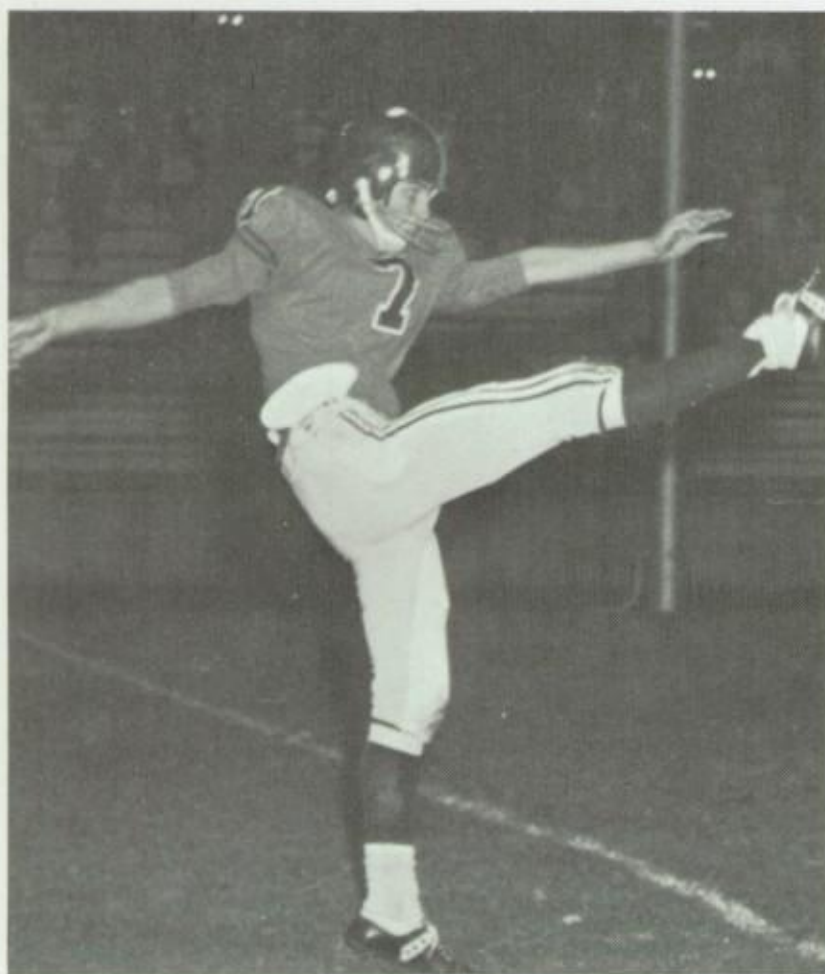

Losing Bob Croft caused a setback for the Marauders in their S.C.L. bid, and additional injuries to key members of the squad allowed the S.C.L. crown to slip from sight.

Another Successful Season

CARRYING THE BALL, Gary Opincarne finds a hole while Frank Grese and Ted Wilson confuse their opponents.

Guided by their coach, Mr. Robert Gill, Mitchell's B-squad returned from a winning season last year with high hopes of improving their 5-3-2 record. This they accomplished by finishing the season with a 5-2-3 record.

Beginning the season in fine style, the sophomore squad won three of their first four outings while tying the fourth. In their next three games with rivals from the south, they had some trouble, losing to Pueblo Central and Centennial, but defeating Pueblo South.

Following the heart-breaking one point loss to the Bulldogs, the gridders rebounded to defeat the Palmer B-squad. Finishing the season with two tough games, the B-squad team played well but could manage only two ties, one against Pueblo East and the other against Wasson.

Supplied with a crop of returning players, strengthened by a group of transfers, and led by Coach Carl Clay, the 1967 tennis team brought several honors to Mitchell. With six shut-outs in conference play, these Marauders went on to take second in district.

John Moulton (No. 1 singles) and Charles Moulton (No. 2 singles) qualified for State. Charles placed third at the state meet, and Mitchell returned with the best score of any team from the South Central League.

During the Palmer Invitational, the best showing of the cross country team came with a second place finish. The cross country team then went on to a fourth-place finish in the Fountain Invitational.

Coach Bill Westbay has high hopes for next year with a flock of returning sophomores and juniors. The outstanding senior runner this year was Captain Larry Haskins, Jim Waters and Joe Joyner were the junior standouts.

Finishing in seventh place in the S.C.L. meet was disappointing for the Marauders and a heartbreaking twenty-third in the state meet rounded out the season.

This year's lettermen were seniors Larry Haskins, and Gene Ratzloff, junior Joe Joyner and sophomores Matt Mauro, Dave Riddle, and Bob Dorr.

DEFENSE IS A very important facet in basketball, as displayed by this block of a jump shot.

Intramurals were included as an important part in Mitchell's athletic program for the 1967-1968 school year.

Organized and supervised by Mr. Norman Ring, intramurals provided an outlet for the extra energy of any Mitchell student who was not involved in one of the varsity sports.

of Sports to Students

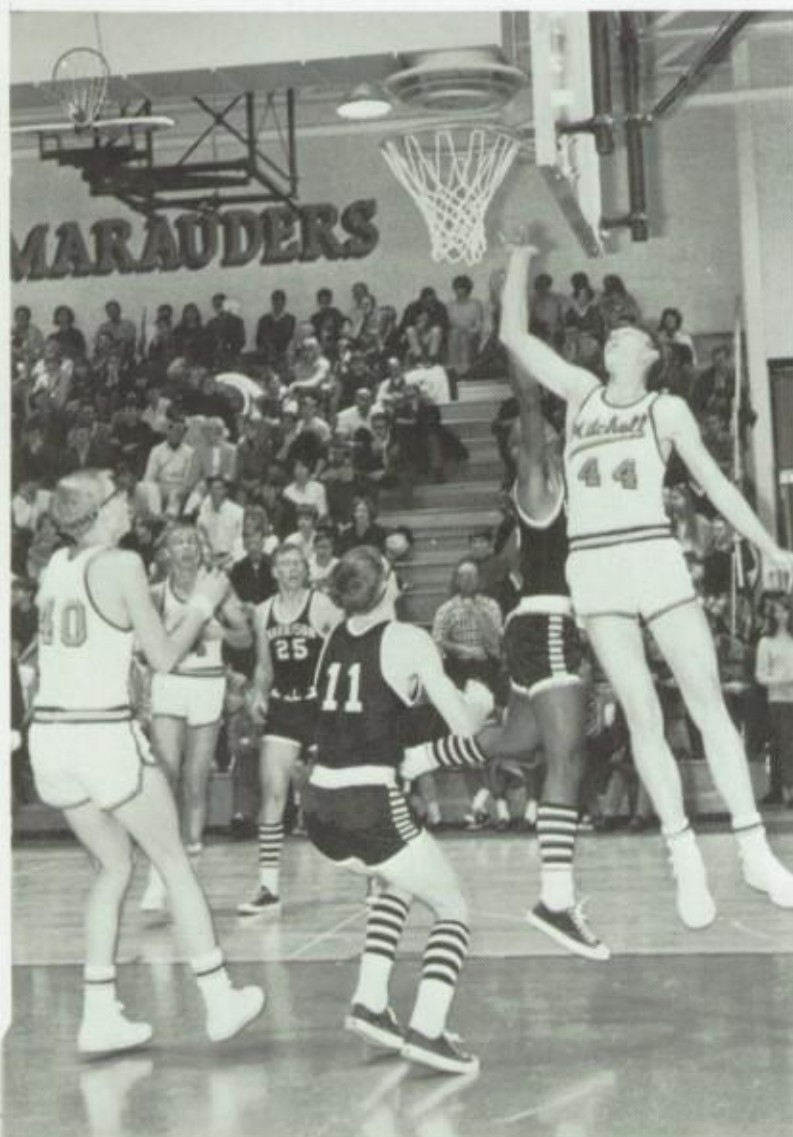

Conducted as an extracurricular activity after school and at night, intramural sports provided a degree of competition that did not demand perfection but did create a desire to win and improve. This intramural program is also important because it helps the concerned people learn the importance of good sportsmanship and provides a form of enjoyable exercise.

Basketball was the only intramural sport which was initiated before Spring Vacation. It was expected that volleyball, handball, flag football, speedball, and perhaps one or two other sports would be organized and initiated after the mid-term break.

This year the Marauders improved greatly over the previous two years. The Cagers ended the season by tying with Wasson for second place in the South Central League.

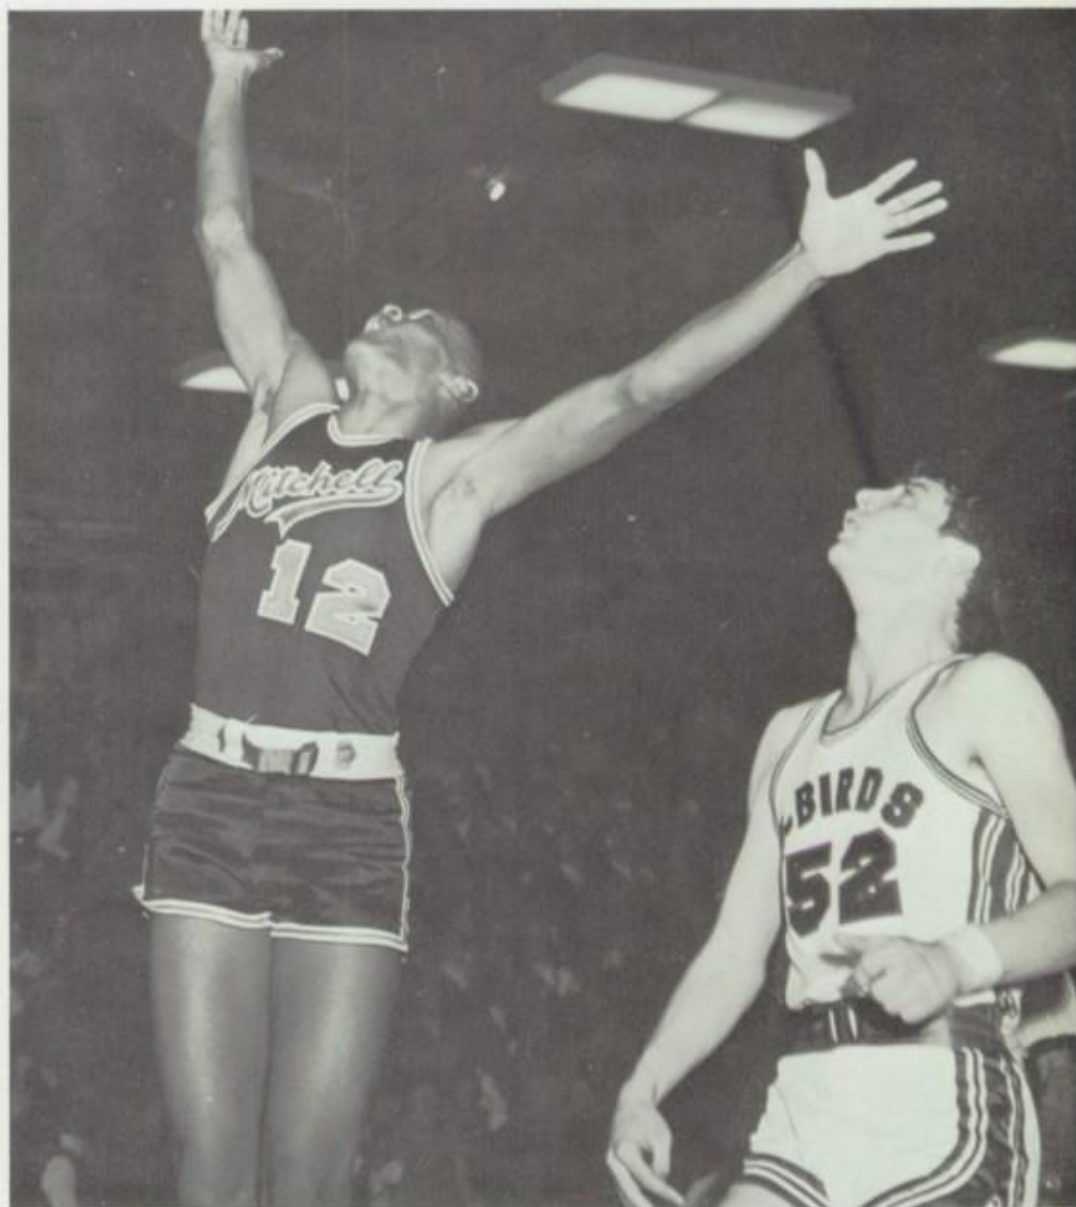

In the first of six pre-league games, the netters captured wins against Arvada, Bear Creek, Greeley West, and Cheyenne Mountain consecutively. The Marauders were ranked second in the state at this time.

They started the S.C.L. season after falling to Manual and Greeley Central by losing to top-ranked Centennial. The Cagers bounced back to defeat Harrison in a non-league game and narrowly fell to Wasson in a league game.

Being tied with Palmer for last place after these defeats, the Marauders pulled themselves out of the cellar by defeating Palmer and were back on the track. After beating Palmer, the netters defeated Pueblo East, Fort Morgan, and Pueblo South to put themselves in third place in the S.C.L.

In the last game of the season, the Marauders defeated the Trinidad Miners by a margin of fourteen points. The Cagers went on to compete in the newly organized league tournament.

In the league tournament the Marauders earned third place by beating Trinidad, 70 to 50; falling to Centennial 81 to 78; and defeating South 65 to 55.

Because nine varsity wrestlers graduated last year, the 1967-1968 season started slowly. As the season moved toward a climax, the team showed improvement by winning their final two conference meets against Palmer and Trinidad.

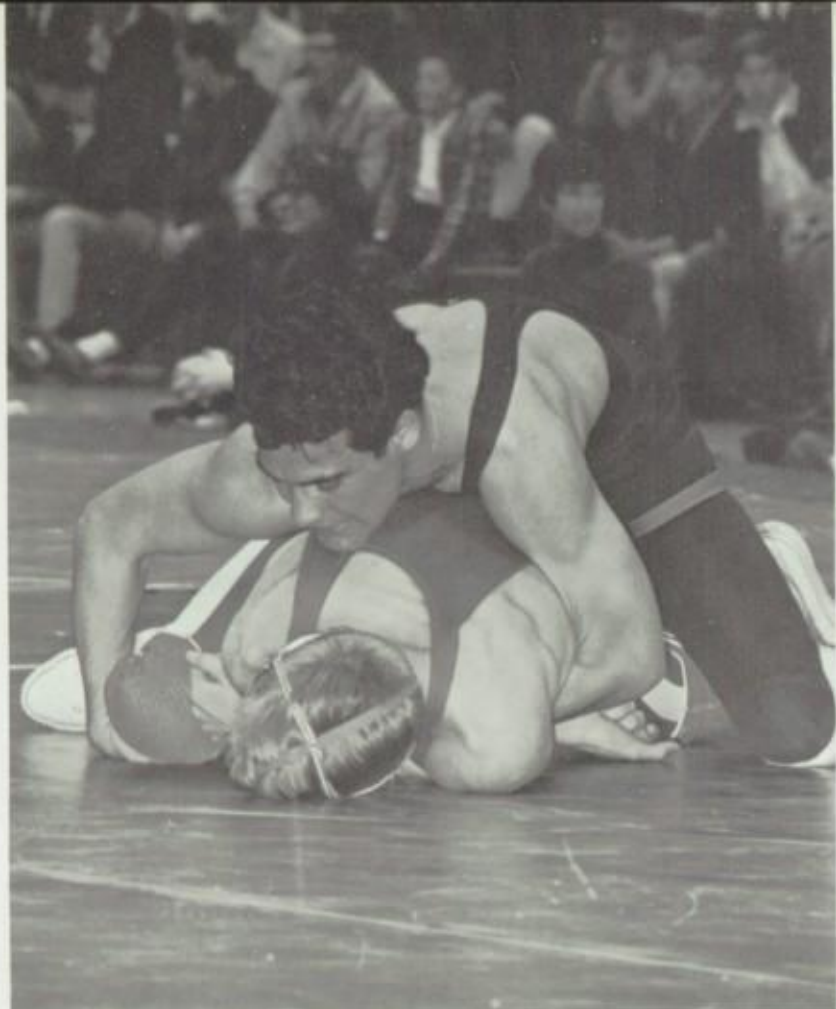

Dan Ruiz and Kent Walton both won first place in the district wrestling tournament. Ed Bishop, Bruce Clarke and Al Quintana captured seconds with Steve Morgan placing third. Mitchell placed fourth in the team standings in district which was hosted by Mitchell.

Standouts for this year's team were Ed Bishop, Al Quintana, Dan Ruiz, and Kent Walton. Ed Bishop placed third at the state meet in the 154-pound classification.

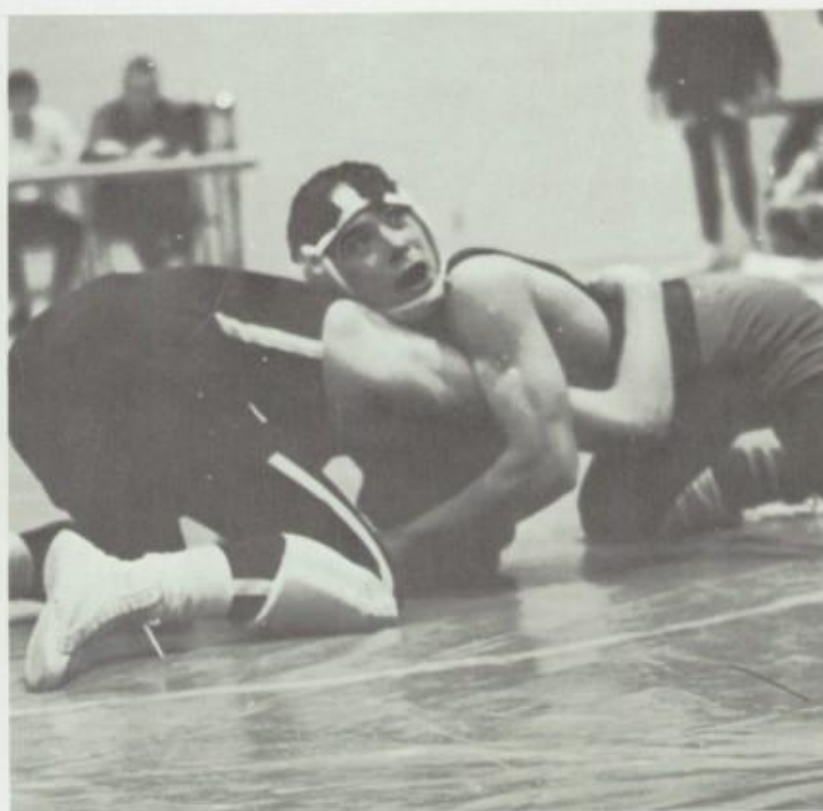

With a strong finish at the end of the season, Coach Bill Gordon has high hopes for a good 1968-69 season.

In the first of eleven games, the junior wrestlers defeated Air Academy. They then fell to Aurora Hinkley, Wasson, and Pueblo East, before defeating Cheyenne Mountain by a wide margin. The Marauders fell to Pueblo Central, downed Harrison, and were overcome by Centennial. They ended the season by defeating South, Palmer, and Trinidad.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Charleen Colvin and Mr. Gary Cotton, the advanced swim class improved their strokes for the advanced swimmer's badge during the first semester, and during the second semester worked for their senior lifesaving badge. Among some of the skills necessary for lifesaving are the following: approaching the victim properly, breaking holds, and handling a struggling victim.

Mr. Gary Cotton instructed the water safety class this year. Class members reviewed the lifesaving strokes learned in advanced swim, learned basic survival and advanced survival swimming, and earned a water safety aide certificate.

Students who have earned their lifesaving badge could, on their own time, become voluntary lifeguards in the Mitchell pool during open swim.

In league, conference, and district competition, the 1967-1968 swim team upheld the name of the mighty Mitchell Marauders. Finishing the season with a 5-2 dual win-loss record, one triangular loss, and one quadrangular win, Cotton's Swabbies took second place in the conference meet and second in district.

They ended the year at the state meet in Ft. Collins where they ranked twenty-second out of thirty-four schools. Ed Strack, outstanding sophomore, and Gary Pitman, a promising junior, placed high on the list of total meet points for the year along with Bob Hunt, co-captain. received honorable mention for their efforts during the season.

for Successful Season

This year's gymnastics team, under the direction of Coach Harold Metz, is looking forward to a winning season.

Hints of what may come were given in the first two meets when the gymnasts defeated both Arapahoe and Lamar.

Although the team lost four senior lettermen to graduation last year, it has good depth and there were many promising and proven juniors who stepped in to replace the seniors.

Spearheaded by the work of George Wilcox, Ken Candelaria, Richard Evans, Steve Taylor, Dan Faucett, and Bob Thorgeson, the gymnastics team is out to make this the best season in their short three year history.

MITCHELL'S BATTING strength is shown in Luke Johnson, Chuck Sullivan, Stew McPherson, Jesse Cox, J. E. Hansen, and Don Marshbanks.

At the beginning of the season, according to Coach Bob Gill, the 1966-67 baseball team did not look promising. After winning the first three games by only one run, Mitchell then lost to Palmer. However, with hard work, the team won the next two games in a row. The Trinidad Miners upset the Marauders, but Mitchell, under the leadership of Gary Brown and Steve Beyer, bounced back and won their next eleven games in a row.

Dave Sample was the Marauder with the highest batting average of .367. Three other Marauders batted in the .300's. They were Steve Beyer, .345, Gary Brown, .327, and Rocky Wilson, .315.

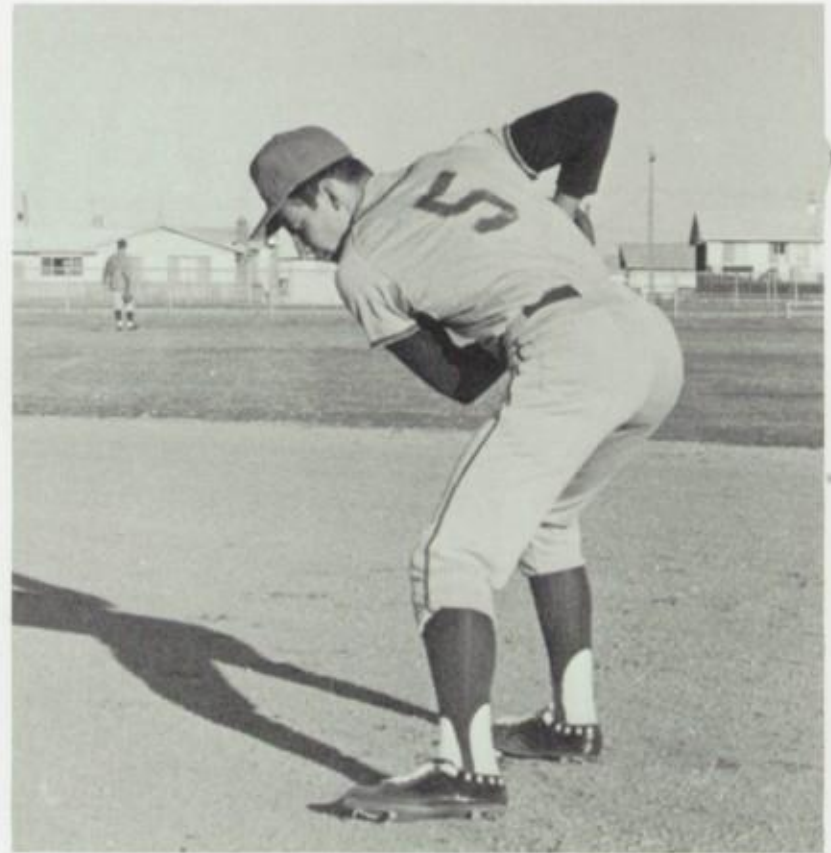

In the pitching department, Don Nicks led the Marauder staff with a record of 5 wins and 1 loss. Ron Haines and Ed Mohler were next with 7 wins between them.

In the playoff game of the state championship, Mitchell led after three innings, 3-1. At the end of the game, however, Thomas Jefferson defeated the Marauders 11-3.

This year's team was a young team with only nine seniors and a good crop of sophomores and juniors coming up. Coach Bob Gill has high hopes for the 1967-68 team.

Mitchell at State Meet

Girls who were chosen by Mrs. Kerstin Edgar for the advanced gym class were judged on their ability, cooperation, and attitude. Out of eighty-five girls trying out, thirteen were chosen and added to the twelve who had belonged to the class last year.

Members began the year by an all-around performance in group work with hand apparatus, floor exercise routines, vaulting, uneven parallel bars, and the balance beam. They then specialized in the areas in which they were most interested and skilled.

Demonstrations, given during basketball half-time shows, were a prelude to the District, State and A.A.U. meets. The University of Colorado at Boulder extended an invitation to these girls to give a ball gymnastics performance in December.

For the girls' advanced gym class and its instructor, the year was filled with excitement, despair, work, competition, and the joy that came when they mastered a difficult routine. They learned that top physical condition was rewarding and that determination was always the most important attitude.

Art Department Introduces Bronze Casting

THIS PAINTING BY Margaret Edwards shows originality and merit.

In previous years at Mitchell, the art, drama, and music departments combined for "Mad Week," which was held in the spring. Taking its place this year was the Fine Arts Spring Festival, May 9 through 16.

During the entire week the art and industrial art departments had displays in the Pikes Peak Room. Vocal music department and the band each gave a concert. The band was accompanied by a style show presented by the home economics department. A drama presentation was also a part of the week's activities.

BEFORE ITS COMPETITION the oil drums for the bronze casting machine looked like this. It was made by Mr. Frost and Mr. Shernick.

HERB POOLER AND Gary Brothers pour bronze into an investment mold.

GARY BROTHERS LIFTS a crucible from the melting furnace.

DURING HIS unstructured mods John Worley works on a silk screen.

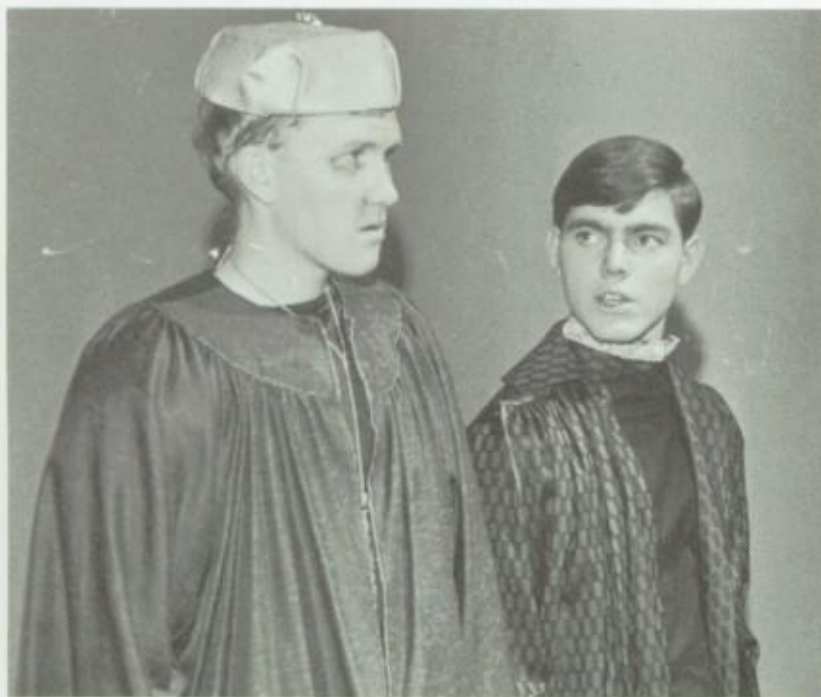

This year the Art Department, under modular scheduling, offered many new areas for art work and more time for the student to express himself artistically. There are two phases of study: the large group and the studio phase. In the large group the advanced art students study the history of art, and those in Art I learn about art concepts.

Bronze casting was introduced this year, and, according to Mr. Frost, Mitchell is probably the only high school to instruct students in this unusual method of casting. Also new this year for the student enjoyment was acid etching and stone carving.

BOB ROWLAND AS the Earl of Warwick visits Joan in the prison.

JOAN OF ARC, played by Cathy Hendrickson, hears the heavenly voices that guide her to save the kingdom of France from the English.

"Lark" Tells Story

Joan of Arc was the subject of the first play presented by the Talisman Theater this year. "The Lark," written by Jean Anouilh and translated by Lillian Hellman, was presented November 16 and 17.

Joan's life and experiences are brought out by a church court at Joan's trial for heresy. During the trial, Joan goes back in her past to hear her voices and to recount her experiences as she tried to win France from the English.

After the pressure of the church becomes unbearable, Joan recants. At the last moment she changes her mind, restates her beliefs, and is burned at the stake.

According to the director, Mr. J. D. Barnes, lighting and costumes added much to the atmosphere of the play. The head of the lighting crew was John Teasley, and the head of the costume crew was Brenda Szafir.

Other important crews and their heads were the following: make-up, Linda Payne; properties, Pete Kaiser; scenery, Dave Bingham; publicity, Peggy McMillen; and wardrobe, Susan van Hook. Mr. Barnes was aided by June Lawson, student director.

BRINGING THE PLAY to a conclusion, the entire cast of twenty-eight people appear on stage for their curtain call.

COLLIN, VERENA AND Catherine Creek prepare to spend the night in their treehouse in the woods.

Talisman Theatre presented the second play of the year, The Grass Harp, under the direction of Mr. James Hill. Mr. Hill, a recent graduate of Adams State College, came to Mitchell as the replacement for Mr. J. D. Barnes. Mr. Hill had previously directed plays at Pueblo South.

Two sisters and their conflict is the subject of the Truman Capote play. Dolly and Verena Talbo are the sisters who cannot get along. Dolly moves into the woods with her nephew and housemaid because of an argument with her sister. The townspeople come to bring them back, and in the ensuing struggle the nephew is shot. The sisters are reunited because of the tragedy.

One of the more challenging aspects of the presentation was the technical work involved in building the scenery. The set, designed by Mr. Hill, required the construction of a paper mache tree and a complicated interior set.

David Bingham and Skip Howes were in charge of the set work. Mike Chisman headed the light crew, and the head of the costume crew was Peggy McMillen. Responsible for the properties was June Lawson, and make-up work was supervised by Laura Engel.

WOUNDED BY BIG Ed, Collin Talbo is comforted by Catherine Creek as the citizens gather around.

BALLET INSTRUCTOR KOLENKHOF gives his opinion of Essie and her dancing, "She stinks!"

Mitchell High School's Talisman Theatre's third production of the year was You Can't Take it With You, a comedy by Hart and Kauman.

Set in New York, the play is the story of a care-free family who live for the sheer joy of living. One of the family members, Penny, writes plays because a typewriter was accidentally delivered to her house eight years before, while another, Mr. DiPenna, came to deliver some milk and stayed for eight years. Paul makes firecrackers, and Essie does ballet in the dining room accompanied by Bach played on a xylophone by Ed.

The play derives its conflicts when Alice, the baby of the family, decides to marry Tony Kirby. Tony's father is a very rich Wall Street tycoon who does not approve of the romance because of the carefree lives led by Alice's family. The play ends with all in the story professing the philosophy, "You can't take it with you — money, that is:"

Mitchell Band Attends Band Day

MR. SMITH smiles in delight as the band finishes a successful number.

MEMBERS OF THE stage band practice for an evening performance that they will soon be giving.

Modular scheduling has meant many changes for Mitchell's band. In addition to regular rehearsals, members are scheduled into sections for more detailed instruction. Each player is also able to arrange for a weekly private lesson on his unstructured time. This has greatly improved the musical quality of the band.

According to Director Norm Smith, the Marauder Band had a very full schedule of appearance. It presented a half-time show at all home football games, played at all home basketball games and at several hockey and basketball games, and provided music for all pep assemblies.

In the concert field the band presented several formal concerts and also entered the State Music Contest.

Stage Band appeared at the Broadmoor International Center and also played for the P.T.A. Founder's Day Banquet.

Not all of the band's activities were confined to home. The band traveled to out-of-town football and basketball games to Colorado University for Band Day and to Pueblo Centennial for an exchange assembly.

Seniors Ralph Cromer and Ron Davids were selected as members of the Colorado All-State Band.

JAN NEWELL AND Eugene Gray practice for an upcoming concert.

Mr. Smith Adds

Because of the high interest shown by the Mitchell girls in becoming majorettes, Mr. Norman Smith decided this year to add a B-squad of six girls. The new girls do not participate in as many activities as the performing girls, but Mr. Smith explains the B-squad as more of a training grounds for future A-squad majorettes.

What is a band without pretty girls marching out ahead of it? The majorettes and squad performed along with the school marching band in half-time shows at most football games and some basketball games.

Through the year they also participated in Band Day at Boulder and marched in the Palmer Homecoming Parade this fall. There were six A-squad majorettes along with the new B-squad of six girls.

Of course, being a majorette is not all play and no work. The auditions were held in the spring leaving the entire summer for the girls to practice, which they did quite regularly.

Since Mitchell opened in 1965, the student enrollment has increased about 39%, while the enrollment of the Vocal Music Department has increased 89%.

Aims of this department are to provide a singing opportunity for all students and to enrich their lives by exposing them to a variety of great music. For those who have an especially strong interest in music, either as a hobby or as a vocation, a class in music theory is offered.

In May the Concert Choir and Madrigal Singers made their annual spring tour. This year the groups sang for schools and organizations in the Pueblo area, and at the close of the day, all enjoyed themselves with a refreshing swim followed by dinner. Also included on their schedule for the year were performances on KKTU and KRDO television.

Officers for the Concert Choir were Richard Wachtendorf, president; Robert Johnson, vice-president; Thomas Hunter and Deborah Whitehouse, secretaries; Thomas Harshbarger and Kathleen Stamps; treasurers. Joe Vegh was the riser chairman, and the robe chairman was Susan Scott.

Their repertoire included "Wassail," "Christmas Day," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and a medley of songs from "Oklahoma."

THE MADRIGAL SINGERS perform for Mitchell's Christmas Concert.

Mitchell's Madrigal Singers began the school year with performances at other high schools and community clubs. With popular arrangements such as "'Twas The Night Before Christmas" and "Mid-Winter," they added their voices to the traditional Christmas assembly.

Other pieces sung by the group included "Carousel," "Musical Concoction," "The Cricket," and "Hard By A Fountain."

This year the Madrigal Singers was comprised of select juniors and seniors who rehearsed four times a week. They received no credit for this class.

There was one accompanist and four students for each section, making a total of seventeen members. The officers were president, Robert Johnson; vice president, Richard Wachtendorf; and secretary, Susan Scott.

MR. HAYES IS kept busy during the school year directing five vocal groups. Here he works with the Concert Choir to obtain a good blend of voices, which is so important in any group.

Mitchell's Mixed Chorus was open to all boys and girls, and no audition was required. The members met four times a week, a total of ten modules.

This group performed at the Christmas assembly and the spring concert. Their repertoire included "Way-faring Stranger," "Shenandoah," "Christmas Is Coming," "The Three Kings," and "We've Been a While A-Wandering."

The officers were president, Jerry Harris; vice president, Judy Johnson; secretary, Letha Skilling. Bonnie Ems and Marilyn Atkins assisted as librarians.

BACK ROW: Cheryl Hahs, Lisa David, Mary Wulf, Linda Libasci, Letha Skilling, Tina Pickard, LaJauna Borland, Sherri Jones. ABSENT: Kendra Moline, Donna Kaiser, Carrie Barbadillo.

Girls' Choir was an intermediate group open to all girls by audition. Their first performance was in the Christmas Concert, at which they sang "Make We Merry" and "For Us A Child." Other selections done by the Girls' Choir included: "Camelot," "If Ever I Would Leave You," "How Merry We Live," and others.

The officers were president, Kathy Coblentz; vice-president, Donna Kaiser; and secretary, Lisa David. The accompanists were Sherrilyn Jones and Chris Haskin.

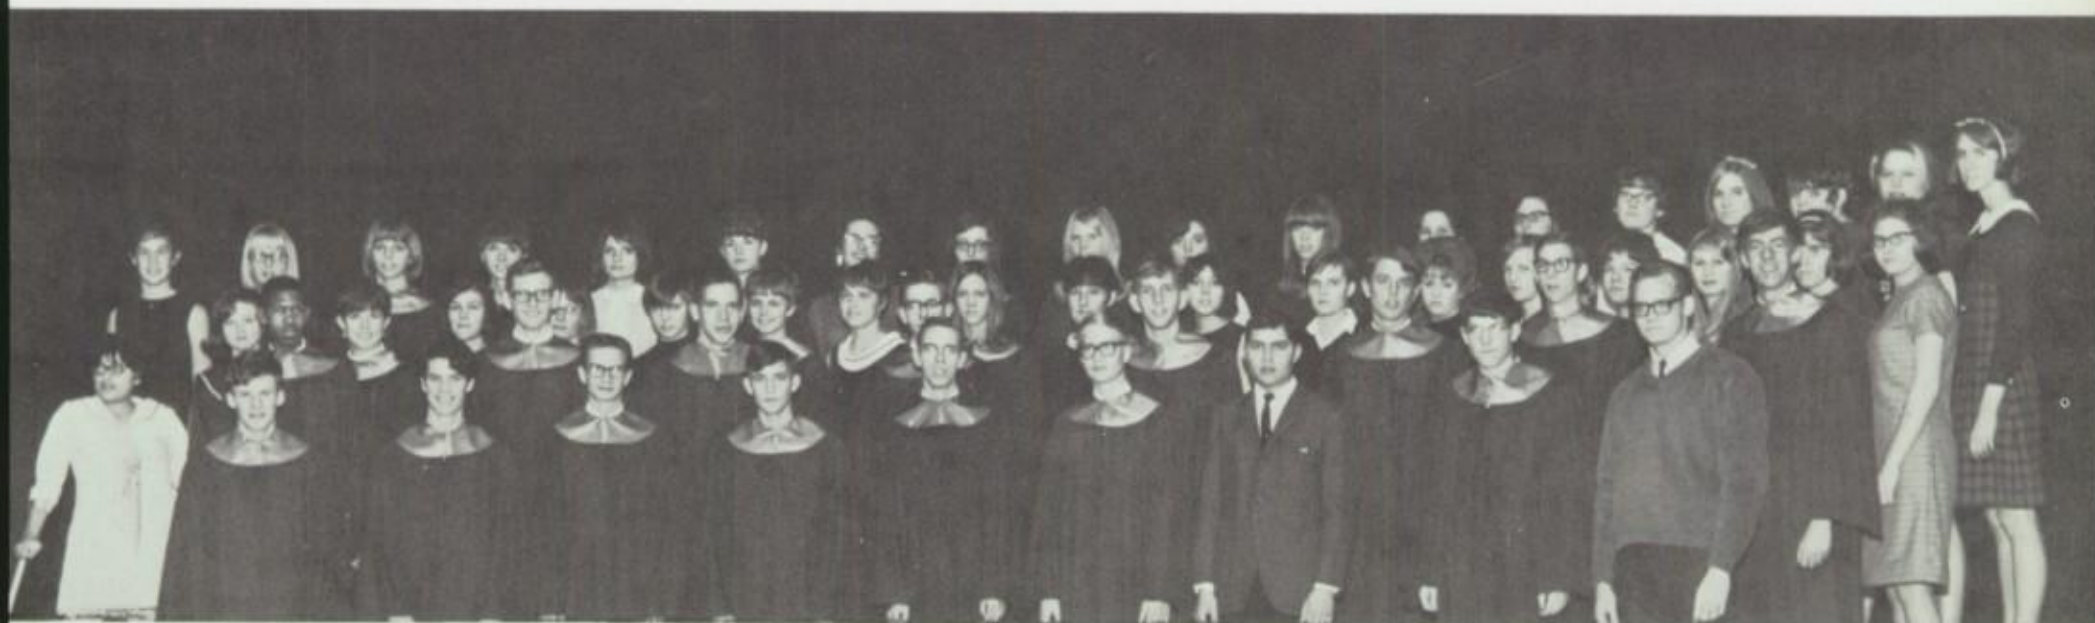

The Boys' Choir was open to boys of all the choirs and other interested boys. This being the group's first year, Mr. Hayes was pleased at the size of fifty members. The Christmas Concert was the first performance for this group also. They sang "O Tannenbaum," "Mary Had A Baby," and "The Boar's Head Carol."

Cabinet Meets Challenge

Flexible scheduling presented quite a challenge to the 1967-1968 Cabinet. Problems included scheduling for assemblies, directing use of the student union, and arousing school spirit.

Work on Homecoming and the approaching school year began in the preceding months of June, July, and August. Their diligent work paid off when the Cabinet Homecoming float won first prize in competition, bringing the seniors ahead in class competition for the Homecoming events.

Headed by Darrell Jones as president and Mr. Charles Gaul as faculty advisor, the 1967-1968 Cabinet consisted of Kathy Gamble, vice-president; Steve Taylor, chairman of Council; Patty Snow, secretary of records; Keith Miller, secretary of treasury.

Gail Pring served as secretary of publicity; Carol Laurich, secretary of social activities; Steve Johnson, secretary of assemblies; Bob Croft, secretary of morale; Kathy Newman, secretary of courtesy; and Brian Frenzel, secretary of safety.

Registration stickers were required for all cars which were parked in the parking lots. Mr. Walter Medina, the parking lot attendant, checked to make sure that these stickers were displayed at all times.

Brian Frenzel directed the activities of safety committee with the help of Mr. Thomas Howerton.

REVEREND WARREN M. Hile talks to students about the meaning of Thanksgiving at the annual Thanksgiving assembly.

Assemblies during the year were scheduled before or after school rather than during the day. This was one of the many changes which took place because of modular scheduling. A few assemblies were scheduled in the evening so that more parents could attend.

There were many musical assemblies featuring, among many others, the Army Field Band, the Air Force Academy Falconaires, and the Mitchell choirs. Students had a chance to display their talents during the 1967 Homecoming Talent Show.

Imagination and hard work by the assemblies committee members resulted in a variety of entertaining assemblies during the year. Secretary of Assemblies Steve Johnson worked closely with assemblies committee members and faculty advisor Miss Lynn Johnstone throughout the year to attain the high quality of Mitchell assemblies which were available to the student body this year.

Morale committee's biggest assignment during the year was leading the school spirit of the Mitchell Marauders. The members carried out this task under the direction of Bob Croft and Mrs. Charleen Colvin.

Two of the major events that morale committee organized were the numerous Homecoming activities and the Wasson-Mitchell pep assembly.

Morale committee devoted much time and energy in preparing skits to put on at the pep assemblies. Members also created slogans before each game to promote more spirit among the student body.

Social Committee Adds to School Dances

CAROL LAURICH CONDUCTS a committee meeting after school to prepare for the Valentine dance.

Social committee had many new and different ideas that added a pleasant atmosphere to the many dances held during the year.

Under the supervision of Carol Laurich, the members met every week to plan and construct the decorations in advance of each dance. The day of the dance the committee members put up decorations. Mr. Arvel Ricketts and Miss Diana Weber assisted the committee whenever necessary.

Popular bands from Denver and Colorado Springs helped to make the dances even more exciting than in previous years. Some of these groups were the Crimson Street Trolley from Colorado Springs, The Beggars Opera Company from Denver, and the Half Doesn't from Denver.

Courtesy Committee Conducts Tours

ACTING AS A guide, Dick Gault takes newcomer Pam Young on a tour of the school.

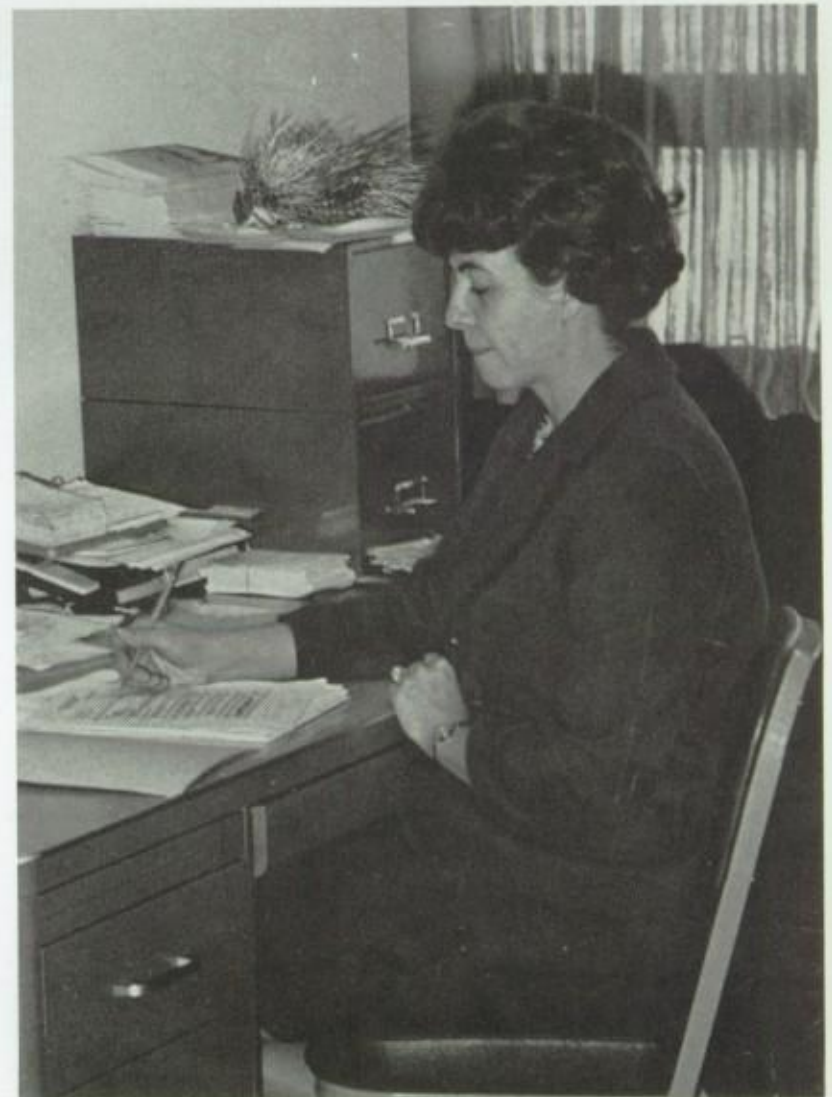

Because of the unique system of scheduling used by Mitchell High School, more emphasis was placed on the importance of receiving guests and organizing tours for new students by the courtesy committee. The committee members took on the task of showing the visitors and newcomers the various areas of the school and making them feel welcome.

Secretary of Courtesy, Kathy Newman, supervised the completion of any duties for which the committee was made responsible. Mrs. Julie Toskin, committee sponsor, was consulted when any question arose.

With the aid of the courtesy committee, the confusion resulting from the new system of scheduling was reduced considerably.

Paper, paint, and brushes were the tools used by publicity committee members to make a variety of posters and banners throughout the year. The committee members met three nights a week under the direction of Gail Pring, secretary of publicity, to construct the signs. Before going on display, the posters and banners had to be approved by the secretary of publicity.

Each morning, during A. and A. group, announcements were presented to the student body. These announcements included information about school events and organizational meetings.

Under the supervision of Mr. Jack Frost, the committee publicized all important activities in order to promote greater school spirit among the students.

Patty Snow and the members of the Records Committee found that voting machines greatly reduced the tedious work involved in counting ballots. However, in addition to the final elections, there were primary ballots and nominations that had to be counted without the use of technology.

Another mechanical device employed by Patty was the typewriter, as she took minutes of Cabinet meetings and posted them for all interested students to read.

Queen candidates were in capable hands as Patty arranged to have showcases and pictures made for each.

Keith Miller, secretary of treasury, went to work early in preparing the general store as he ordered many new items during the summer months. New on the inventory list of Mitchell's general store were wind-breakers, class shirts, Mitchell shirts, notebooks, and clipboards. Of course there were the old standards of decals, pencils, sweatshirts, and buttons promoting Marauder spirit.

Members of Council and Cabinet served their time in the general store most all modules of the day, and on special occasions they put on their aprons, gathered up their merchandise, and ventured into the Student Union to proclaim their bargains.

Keith was also responsible for all the financial matters of Cabinet, which included the recording of all bills and receipts and working closely with Mr. Gaul, Mitchell's business manager.

Inter-Club Council, better known as ICC, was made up of representatives from all the chartered clubs at Mitchell and was headed by Kathy Gamble, vice-president of the student body. ICC provided an important link in communication between clubs and the student organization.

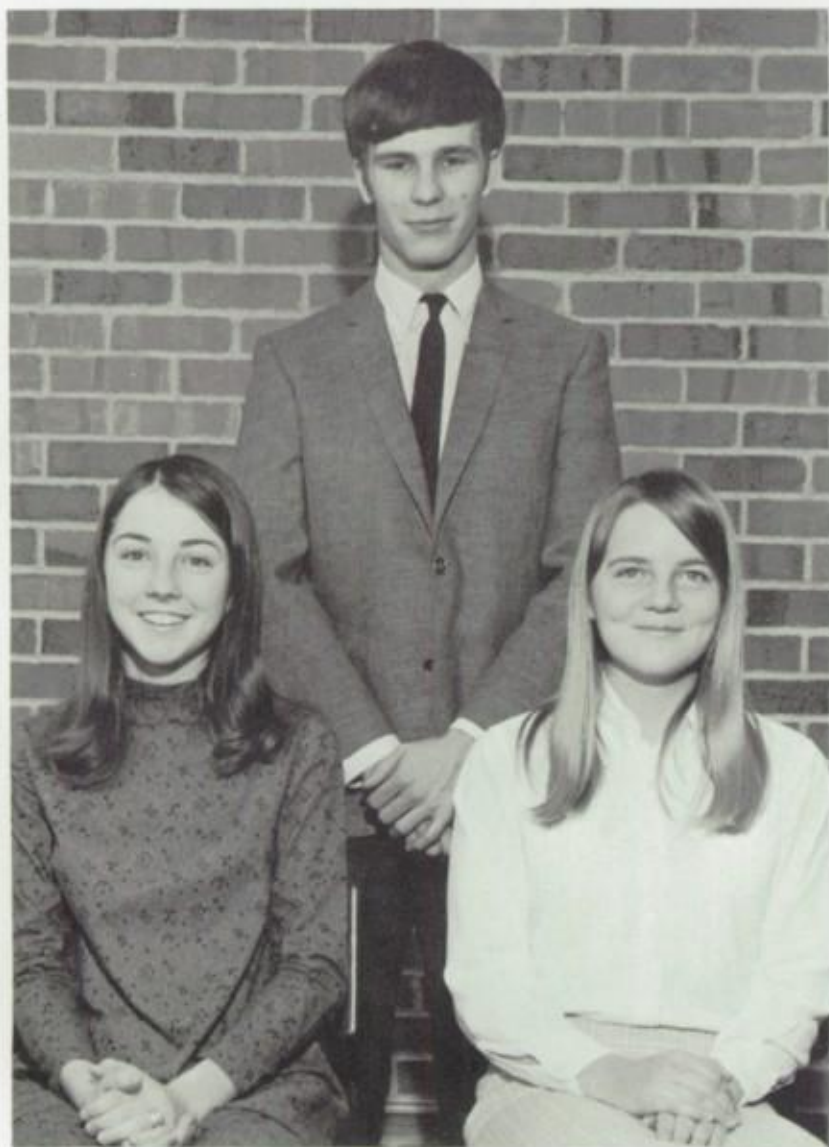

ICC was called upon to provide the talent in the Homecoming Show, and each club was assigned the responsibility of a showcase for a week.

ICC also sponsored projects of their own such as a candy sale at Christmas and a food drive at Thanksgiving. On March 14, a breakfast for Teacher Appreciation Day was hosted by the organization. The major task undertaken by the clubs at Mitchell was the annual carnival on April 6.

ALTHOUGH SOPHOMORES "MISSED" formal initiation, this scene proves that sophomores still owe respect to their elders.

Selection of a class flag and class colors were the tasks that greeted Sophomore Council upon entering Mitchell this year. The first semester council was elected in the junior high schools; the number of representatives from East, Irving, and South was based on relative sizes of the freshman classes.

During Homecoming the pace continued as the Sophomore Council endeavored to win class competition points for various events. Superior strength and experience on the part of upperclassmen proved to be too great an obstacle; however, the sophomores did come through with a fine showing by taking third place in the floatbuilding competition.

To build up their treasury, Sophomore Council sponsored a sock-hop in December that featured two bands, The Bedlam Research and The Regeneration.

Second semester council was kept busy planning for Mitchell's annual carnival.

Headed by Doug Forney during the first semester, the Junior Council seemed to take a little time to gather steam after last year's victory in class competition. The juniors knuckled under to upperclassmen in most all Homecoming events, but much to the chagrin of the seniors, the juniors did capture the "bomb."

On October 7 two bands highlighted a dance sponsored by the Junior Council. Featured were The Birmingham Balloon Company and the Swingers of Seville.

Christmas time found the juniors back in form as they took first place in hall decorations. Judges commented that the juniors' halls had the best "Christmas effect."

Second semester council, which was headed by Jim Waters, undertook the job of planning and executing the Junior-Senior Prom in addition to preparing for the annual Mitchell carnival.

Senior Council started off their final year with an explosion of spirit. The first class competition event, Mitchaballoo, was taken as a precedent for the entire fall season. With a prize-winning float dominating their achievements, seniors swept almost all Homecoming events to grab a commanding lead over the juniors and sophomores.

November 11 saw the seniors sponsor a field day for Mitchell girls — a Sadie Hawkins Dance was held featuring the Bedlam Research.

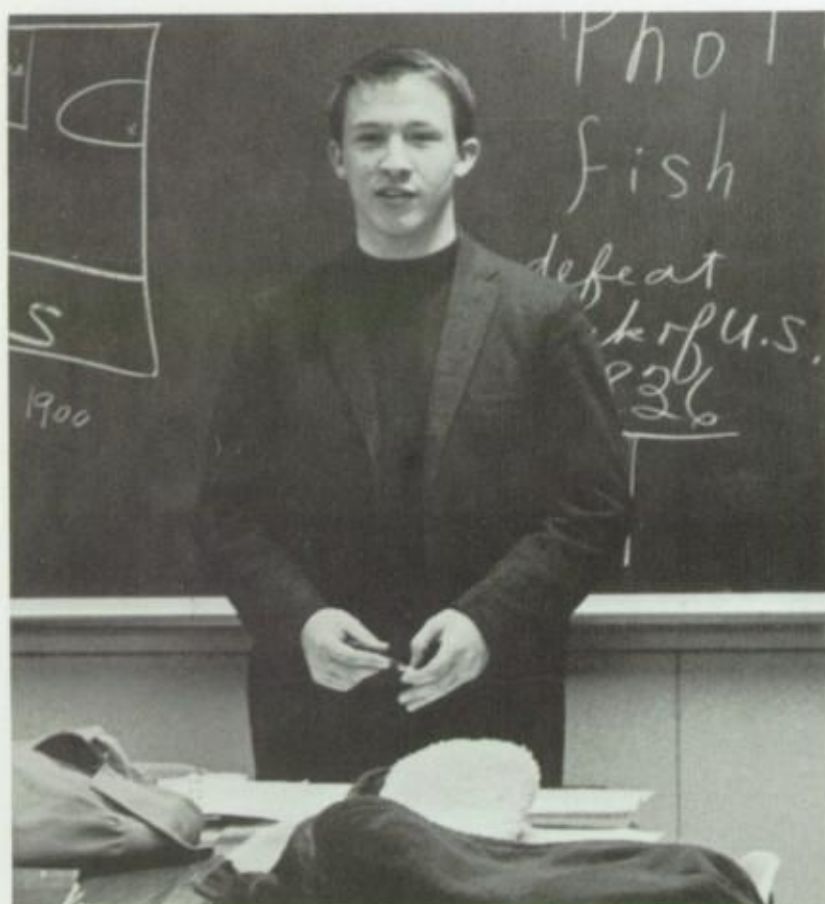

A year long quest was made for senior privileges with few gains; however, a ground work was established for next year's class. The second semester council ended a great year by working on the carnival, senior trip, and senior gift.

I.R.C. Attends Symposium at Colorado College

Under the direction of Mrs. Janie Kirt, Mitchell's first International Relations Club had an active year. The members heard guest speakers, held a debate on the Vietnam war, and attended a session of the Colorado College Symposium at which Roger Hilsman spoke on Presidential Foreign Styles and Vietnam.

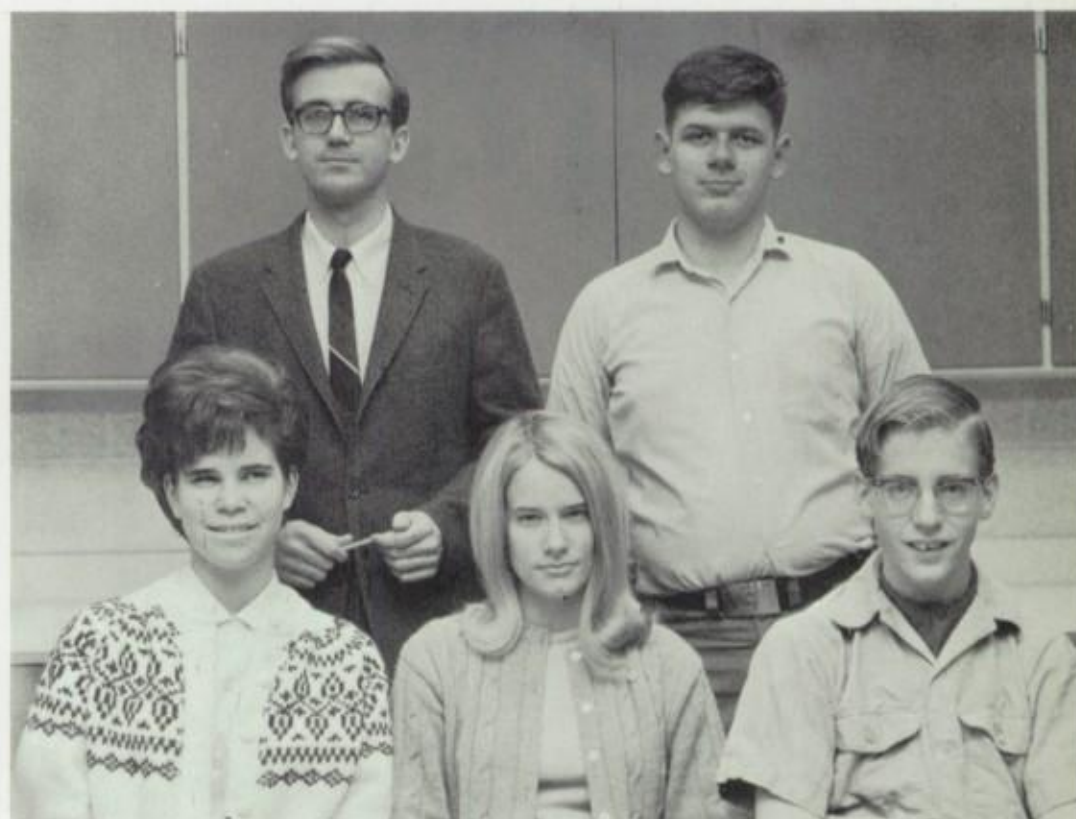

I.R.C. also sent a delegation of three people to the model United Nations at Southern Colorado State College last April.

Members included students interested in foreign affairs and learning more about current world events. Officers included Jim Wiant, president; Jan Stoelting, vice-president; Sue Rowley, secretary-treasurer; Charles Thompson, programs; and Carey Watson, publicity.

Many long hours were spent by the staff of Foreign Times, a newspaper featuring current events of national and international affairs. New to Mitchell this year, Foreign Times was readily accepted and appealed to Mitchell's interested students.

Under the guidance and leadership of their sponsor, Mr. Robert Stack, the 1967-1968 Foreign Times staff gained experience in the field of journalism by learning management and production procedures. The only membership requirements were a good academic record and a genuine concern for world events.

Editor-in-chief was Charles Thompson; foreign affairs editor, Cammie Fairburn; assistants, Rhonda Smith, Mark Medvedeff, Curt Risvold, Jim Stewart; domestic affairs editor, Peggy Rowden; current events editor, Louis Wilson; cultural affairs editor, Robbie Haines; student poll editor, Peggy McMillen; managers, Ron McCurdy and Bob Ham; printing, Mr. Douglas Graff; and faculty advisors, Mr. Robert Stack.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Darlene Dickinson, editor, and Miss Roenna Cohen, faculty advisor, this year's Apogee staff included juniors and seniors who worked hard to produce the year book.

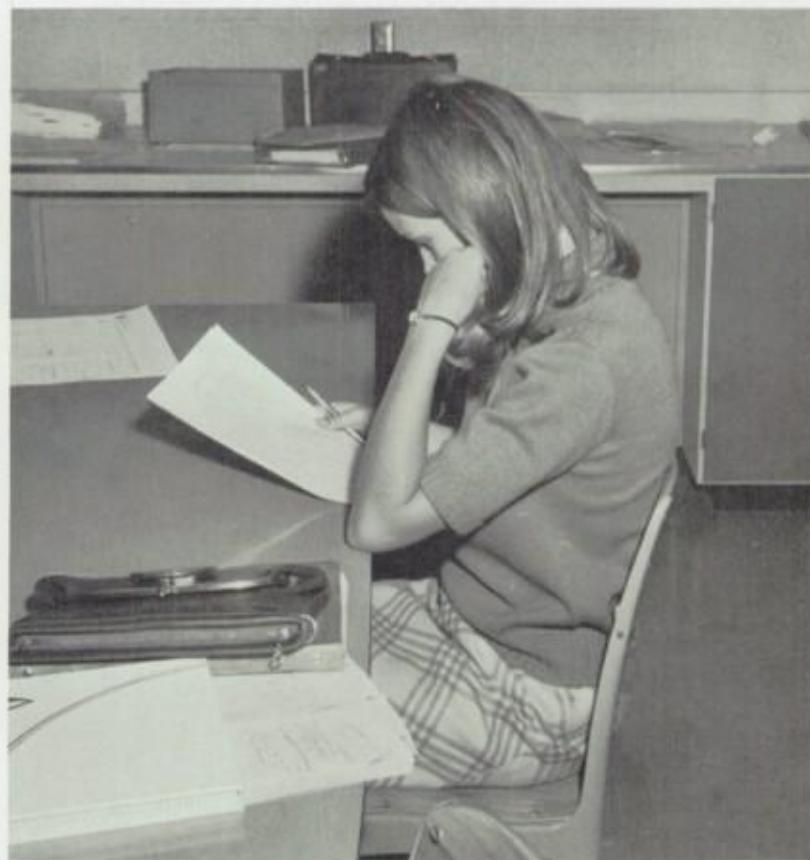

Apogee Rushes to Meet Deadlines

Starting early in the year, editor Darlene Dickinson assigned staff members to the sections and set up the requirements for the all-important deadlines.

Since almost the entire staff was new at the job of producing a yearbook, the first meetings were set aside for briefings. They soon learned what a hard job lay in store for them.

With the increase of the Apogee staff and with the help of the faculty advisor, Miss Roenna Cohen, it was decided to try and outdo the first two volumes of the Apogee, although the previous year's books were used as guides.

An added asset to the 1968 Apogee was the help of Markay Studio, who added many excellent and different pictures which emphasized the theme of this year's book, "We Dare to Be Different."

Creates Interest

MIKE DELONG SEEKS inspiration for new editorial material.

In May of 1966 the Echelon was awarded three hundred dollars for the entry of its January edition in a national contest on traffic safety. The contest was sponsored by Kemper Insurance Company of Chicago. Additional commendations on the edition were received from Don L. Smith, city traffic engineer, and Governor John A. Love.

This year the Echelon continued its editorial policy of including articles about moral responsibility, world affairs, and problems encountered in flexible scheduling. Emphasis was also placed on freedom of the press, since Mr. Carl N. Clay, advisor for the Echelon staff, feels that students are capable and should have the right to publish a periodical that expresses an opinion in today's America. The Echelon was an instrument of controversy, provoking thought and debate.

Published twice a month, the Echelon was under the direction of Kathy Gamble, editor-in-chief; Jim Drew and Cindy Sabo, news editors; Mike DeLong and Jan Bolt, editorial co-editors; Becky Powell and Rosemary Felsburg, feature editors; and Rick Milner, Rich Wachtendorf, and Kathy Carlos, sports editors.

Other members of the staff included Carlene Hale, business manager; Larry Clayton, advertising; Jay Reed, art editor; Steve Killey, Dave Boucher, Ed Pompea, and Carey Watson, photographers; JoAnn Garcia, circulation manager and exchanges; Mr. Carl N. Clay, advisor; and Mr. F. Southern, photography advisor.

National Honor Society invitations were extended to fifty new seniors and twenty-eight juniors who maintained a B average or above and who demonstrated the qualities of character, service to the school and community, and leadership. Fifteen percent of the senior class was eligible for membership and five percent of the junior class. Members were selected by the Mitchell faculty.

Highlighting National Honor Society's activities this year was a trip to the fifth annual University of Colorado National Honor Society Conference on March 23. The theme of the program, which included lectures and discussion groups, was "The American Mark." This topic dealt with the United States' foreign policy.

Installation for new members took place at Mitchell on March 20. The student body was invited. Other invitations were extended to the parents.

Mrs. Julie Toskin, Miss Marion Reid, Mr. Donald Moore, and Mr. Lawrence Schmitt were on the faculty committee this year. Mr. Raymond Calhoun was the chairman. Officers for the year were David Hueftle, president; Brenda Szafir, vice-president; Laura Greathouse, treasurer; Nancy Pearce, secretary; and Marcia Siemon, I.C.C. representative.

Talisman Theater Presents Three Plays

During the 1967-68 school year the Mitchell Talisman Theater produced three all-school plays. The first play was "The Lark," the story of the famous Joan of Arc, directed by Mr. J. D. Barnes. The second play was Truman Capote's "The Grass Harp," the first production of Mr. James Hill. The last play of the year was "You Can't Take It With You," a comedy by Kaufman and Hart.

Aside from acting in school productions and working on the numerous crews such as make-up, scenery, and costumes, the club members also collected canned goods for the needy at Christmas. Attending other school and civic plays has been a large part of the Talisman Theater activities. They also raised money for drama festivals and state drama meets.

Officers for the Talisman Theater were Doug De-Long, president; June Lawson, secretary-treasurer; David Bingham, membership chairman; and Linda Alldredge, publicity chairman.

In Wasson's Brick Room on February 29, newly chosen members of Quill and Scroll were initiated into the honorary international journalistic society. All three district 11 high schools participated in the ceremony.

Guest speaker for the initiation ceremonies was Mrs. Barbara Arnest. As editor of the Colorado College alumni magazine, she was well qualified to speak on the subject of journalism as a career. Her duties on this alumni journal include feature writing, layouts, proof reading and editing, and direction of photography. Under her direction, the magazine has won numerous awards.

March saw the new members of Quill and Scroll acting as the editorial board for Mitchell's literary magazine, the Empyrean. Mr. Donald Hood and Mrs. Judy Jones were the advisors for this undertaking.

Miss Roenna Cohen, Apogee advisor, and Mr. Carl Clay, Echelon advisor, were the faculty sponsors for Quill and Scroll.

Der Deutsche Verein Presents a Faschingsball

In late February, the members of Mitchell's newly formed German club, Der Deutsche Verein, presented a costume party to celebrate the traditional German Faschings season. Students from all Colorado Springs schools were invited.

Earlier in the year, the club's skit, "Gunsmoke," tied for first place in the Homecoming show. In November, the club received second place in the Thanksgiving canned food drive, while earlier in the month members of the club held a baked-goods sale at Safeway. In spring the club operated a concession booth at the annual carnival.

Club officers were Gregg Morrison, president; Nancy Pearce, vice-president; June Lawson, secretary-treasurer, and Charlotte Johnson, I.C.C. representative.

ANN FARNSWORTH, PRESIDENT, explains the club's activities to Mark Barnett, treasurer, as Faye Riddlehoover, secretary, and Debbie Johnson, vice-president, listen.

By speaking as much Spanish as possible at their functions, members of the Spanish club gained a practical use of the Spanish language. The club's activities included celebrating several Spanish holidays such as Guadalupe Day, which is the celebration that opens the Christmas season.

At such parties many of the customs of the Spanish-speaking countries were used to acquaint participants with the people's way of life.

Officers of the club were Ann Farnsworth, president; Deborah Johnson, vice-president; Faye Riddlehoover, secretary; and Mark Barnett, treasurer.

Mrs. Mary Ann Lane, Miss Marion Reid, and Miss Linda Holt, sponsors of the Spanish club, worked with the officers to insure an excellent program of events.

Latin Club Enjoys Roman Banquet

Attendance at a Roman slave banquet held at Wasson High School began the year for Mitchell Latin Club members. The banquet was attended by Palmer, Mitchell, and Wasson members wearing togas, and it followed the Roman theme from the auction of the slaves to the blessing of the food.

Members of the club included both present and former Latin students. Officers of the club were Pam Watson, Pontifex Maximus (president); Mike Guy, Consul (vice-president); Judy Johnston, Quaestor (treasurer); Sheila Wood, Tribune (I.C.C. representative). Latin teacher, Mrs. Jeanne Bruner, acted as faculty advisor for the club.

TWO MEMBERS OF the G.A.A. gymnastic club watch intently as Karen Liby performs on the uneven parallel bars.

Fun was the main objective of the 1967-1968 Girls' Athletic Association. Headed by Mrs. Nancy L. McIver, the club offered many different activities throughout the year including playdays with Wasson, Palmer, and the Deaf and Blind School.

Club members headed sports teams which included field hockey, archery, modern dance, softball, and tennis. A bumper-sticker sale helped to raise money for awards which were presented to the more active club members at the end of the year.

Officers for the year were Patty Howell, president; Jan Krug, vice-president and I.C.C. representative; Barbara Watson, secretary; and Marcia Hackney, treasurer.

Paper Key, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Jeanne B. Bruner, sold books varying from Shakespeare's Macbeth, popular because of its use in classes, to Charles Schultz's What Next, Charlie Brown?, one of the many "Peanuts" books which boosted Paper Key sales.

For the students' convenience, books which were required for classes were sold in the bookstore. While meeting students' needs, members of Paper Key gained valuable experience in the use, sale, and display of literature.

Officers who helped in the organization of the club were Bob Sample, president; Brenda Szafir, vice-president; Marlene Lamb, secretary-treasurer; and Barbara Gately, I.C.C. representative.

Films Add Variety To F.T.A. Programs

Interesting films and guest speakers made the Future Teachers of America's meetings very informative. During the year the clubs from Wasson, Palmer, and Mitchell combined to exchange ideas and to have fun.

At the end of the year a scholarship was presented to a promising member. A booth at the spring carnival helped to raise the money for the scholarship.

To climax the year's events the group traveled to Greeley, Colorado, on February 23, for F.T.A. Day at Colorado State College. The state convention in March was also held at Colorado State College.

Luci Portillos, president; Marcia Siemon, vice-president; Pat Schafer, secretary; Teresa Duran, treasurer; Carol Laurich, historian; and Valerie Nelson, I.C.C. representative, kept the activities interesting and varied under the guidance of sponsor Mr. Vernon D. Dayhoff.

"Investigate the world of electronics; join Electronics Club!" This slogan encourages interested students to become members of the newly formed Mitchell Electronics Club. The group got off to a good start by introducing navy blue jackets as their trademark.

To set up an amateur radio net from Mitchell to Palmer in conjunction with the Palmer Electronics Club was the main project. The members also worked on individual projects throughout the year. Typical projects included building their own ham equipment and stereo systems. Members also repaired television sets and tested electrical equipment.

President Mike Occhiuto worked closely with Mr. Gary M. Schenck to promote interest in the young Club. Membership was open to anyone interested in electronics. Other officers who helped in the organization of the club were Rodger Newell, vice-president; Rick Warner, secretary; and Jim Vegh, treasurer.

Boost School Spirit

Planning more activities and gaining more support for athletes were the main objectives of M-Club this year. Throughout the year M-Club members actively supported both varsity and junior varsity as well as B-squad teams. Gathering wood for the Homecoming bonfire was the first organized project. A pep assembly during basketball season, which was sponsored by the group, helped to boost school spirit and to show the teams that the students were behind them.

Selling programs at basketball and football games helped to finance other activities including an annual picnic at the end of the year. A dance at the beginning of spring and a booth at the spring carnival also helped to raise money.

With the help of the athletic coaches and the other officers, Kent Lynch, president, organized the club. Other officers were Bob Gaddis, secretary-treasurer; Jim Waters, secretary of morale; Bob Croft, vice-president; and Steve Taylor, I.C.C. representative.

Pep Club Keeps Up Spirit

This year the Mitchell High Pep Club's activities included a car wash, a trip to Elches, caroling at Christmas, carrying flags during the halftime of the Homecoming Game, putting up the flag every day, and the Pep Club Show.

One of the biggest organizations at Mitchell this past year, the Pep Club was an organization open to all Mitchell girls. The Pep Club, under the supervision of Miss Hays Alexander and Mrs. Linda Ferguson, supported the sports teams and helped to arouse the spirit of the student body.

D.E.C.A. representatives from Palmer, Wasson, Widefield, and Mitchell joined to form an All-City Council to promote distributive education and Distributive Education Clubs of America. Two of the council's officers, Erick Carroll, president and Kathy Gaston, secretary-treasurer, were from Mitchell.

Sixteen Mitchell D.E.C.A. members competed in contests and for offices at the southern district convention at Pueblo on January 8. Erick Carroll was elected president of the southern district.

The State Leadership Conference on March 3 and 4 at the Broadmoor had three Mitchell representatives, Erick Carroll running for state president, Ted Webster in advertisement layout, and Kathy Gaston in the publicity clinic. The winners of the state competitions went to the national convention at Chicago.

One of the club's projects for the year was to sell advertising to businesses in the city. Twice a month the group gathered for an informal breakfast at The Village Inn. In the spring the clubs from Palmer, Wasson, and Mitchell held an employee-employer banquet.

In order to be a member of D.E.C.A. a student had to be enrolled in distributive education. Club officers, Erick Carroll, president; Dave Helin, vice-president; Loretta Marquez, secretary-treasurer; Kathy Gaston, publicity chairman; and Celena Foster, I.C.C. representative, worked with Mr. Thomas Hergenreter to organize the group.

Classic Bowl was the scene of the weekly meetings of the Mitchell Bowling Club. The sixteen four-man teams met every Tuesday afternoon to compete against one another in an effort to gain top honors and to receive a trophy.

Seven bowlers from the club combined to form a traveling league. These members were chosen on the basis of their bowling skills, which they combined in an effort to defeat rival bowlers from other schools in the city.

Trophies were awarded to those members who proved to be outstanding in a certain area. Members received trophies for the first place team, high game, high series, and the best over-all average.

Officers of the club were Ted Webster, president; Bill Fogarasi, vice president; Susan Scott, secretary-treasurer; Donna Milne, I.C.C. representative; and Mr. Desmond James, club sponsor.

Debate Club's topic for this year dealt with the following question: Should the United States Government pass laws to regulate uniformity in the apprehension of criminals. Schools all over the United States discussed the same topic.

During the year the club attended ten debate meets, some at which there were from thirty to fifty schools represented. The team won Mitchell's first trophy as a team for excellence in debate.

Perhaps a better name for this group would be Speech Club, as it does include members who compete in individual events such as humor, drama, and poetry. Of the twenty-four contestants entering the district qualifying tournament, eleven individuals were sent to state.

These included Oren Maxwell and Jim Wiant, debate; Doug DeLong, Darlene Dickinson, and Skip Howes, humor; Maggie Lamb and Cathy Hendrickson, drama; Dave Bingham, oratory; Linda Alldredge and Linda Payne, poetry; and Robert Blosser, original oratory.

The purpose of Debate Club is manifold, including the development of interests in current events, of self-confidence, and most importantly of the ability to express opinions effectively using factual logic.

Debate Club's officers were Oren Maxwell, president; Dave Bingham, vice-president; Rita McCusker, secretary; and Jim Wiant, ICC representative. Faculty sponsors were Mr. John Kistler and Mrs. Martha Staudte.

Newcomers' Club was a new concept this year. Its purpose was to welcome newcomers and to help them adjust to the school.

Many activities such as hikes, picnics, parties, and group trips to basketball games, football games, and school plays were planned by the club. By arranging such trips, the club interested the new students in Mitchell activities and introduced them to new friends.

Membership in the Newcomers' Club varied by the very nature of the club. As members began to feel at home at Mitchell, they joined other organizations instead. The composition of members varied from month to month as did the number of members.

Faculty sponsors for Newcomers' Club were Mrs. Marjorie Girard and Mr. John Pavlovich.

"IT IS ONLY THE IGNORANT WHO DESPISE EDUCATION."

—PUBLILIUS SYRUS, 42 B. C.

Those words are even more true today than they were 20 centuries ago. As our society grows ever more technological, a solid educational background becomes increasingly important in getting and holding a good job. ■ Colorado Interstate, which works constantly to bring new industry and new prosperity into the Rocky Mountain West, has good reason to know that a high educational standard represents a powerful attraction to incoming businesses. ■ That is why we take this means of drawing to the attention of all teenagers—and their parents—the importance of finishing high school. It is important both to the individual and to this area's future prosperity. ■

A Timken® bearing never asks about your race, color, creed or national origin.

The quality of our products depends upon the ability of the men and women we employ.

So it's no surprise that our employment policy is based only on your ability. Not on your place of birth, your religious faith, or the color of your skin.

One of our vice presidents describes it this way: "We hire people." We also recruit people on college campuses, train people in apprenticeship programs, promote people to better, more responsible jobs.

Our long-standing policy has been clearly and simply stated and restated as follows:

"The Timken Roller Bearing Company reaffirms its policy of treating all employees and applicants, whether or not they are members of minority groups, equally according to their individual qualifications, ability, experience and other employment standards."

It means we can select from all qualified job seekers, not just a chosen few. It gives us a larger labor market from which to pick.

And that's what we pick... the qualified. It takes qualified people, working under the best conditions, to make the best Timken® bearings, Timken steel and Timken rock bits.

The Timken Roller Bearing Company.

"We Dare To be Different" illustrates the events at M.H.S. during the '67-'68 school year. Modular scheduling not only brings recognition for our school but increases Marauder spirit. The students create the spirit—APOGEE '68 records it.

Mary Jo,

Well, we've both made it through
Mr. McCormick's Algebra class so we must be great! (If you can make it in there you can make it anywhere) Best of wishes. Take care, be good and God bless you.

Mary Jo,

Mary Jo you are one of the sweetest girls at Mitchell High School. You dress real cool too. I think you real sweet stay that way always.

Cynthia Swanson '62-68

To Mary,

I am glad that I stayed with you that Saturday night, well at least I will have you here with me next year (I hope) but you maintain your cool and don't mess up like I did with
